VICHY CHIEF PLEDGES COLLABORATION WITH REICH

Petain Will Work With Nazis

VICHY, France, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Marshal Petain, Vichy chief of state, committed himself to full collaboration with Germany in a radio address to the French nation tonight, a fey hours after his vice-premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, had been given supreme military power in the Vichy regime.

The aged marshal ranged himself squarely on the side of Germany in the fight against Russia, which he said was a "defence in the east of civilization" and was a battle which could "change the map of the world."

Petain personally appealed to the United States for understanding and to the French people for their co-operation.

ADMITS FAILURE

He admitted that his so-called national revolution had failed of its aims so far.

In committing himself to full collaboration with Germany, Petain said that centuries of quarreling with France's eastern neighbor had to give way to a larger perspective which "by our activity can open up a reconciled continent."

The marshal declared frankly "that is the aim toward which we are heading."

In a broadcast to the French people, which was the most sensational development in Vichy since the ouster of former Premier Pierre Laval as his political heir last Dec. 12, Petain declared he had given Darlan exceptional powers despite the fact public opinion "never was always favorable nor always fair" to the admiral.

APPEAL TO U. S.

Out of a clear sky Petain appealed to the United States, saying:

"I would like to recall to the great American public the reasons why it has no reasons to fear a decline of French ideals. Certainly our parliamentary policy is dead. But it never had more than a little in common with the democracy of the United States. As for the instinct of liberty—that lives always with us, proud and strong."

He went on:

"The American Press has often misjudged us. Let it now make an effort to understand the quality of our souls; the destiny of a nation whose will was—during the course of history—periodically ravaged; its youth decimated; its well-being troubled by the weakness of Europe, in whose reconstruction France intends today to participate."

Speaking in the strongest terms, the Marshal made an obvious effort to pull the French together behind his government.

FOOD SUPPLY FAILS

He mentioned particularly the failure of food supply and stated that the question was one of the most important for France at the moment.

Without mentioning the recent ouster of Food Supply Minister Jean Achard by name, the Marshal told the nation that "I have already taken sanctions and struck at an entire system in the person of a single man; that of national distribution centres which have assured the great commercial agents of exclusive and usurious control of all questions of food supply to the detriment of the producer and consumer."

DARLAN'S POWERS

Admiral Darlan was named minister of national defence in a reorganization of the cabinet which concentrated all military powers in his hands.

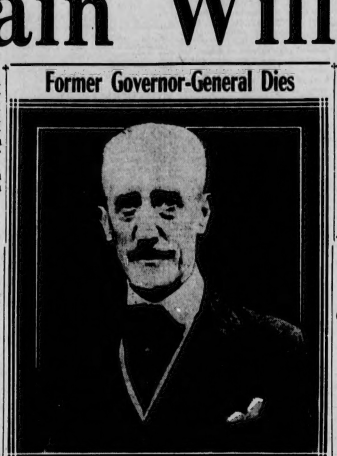

A decree published in a special edition of the Official Journal gave Darlan greater power than any person or combination of persons in Vichy except Marshal Petain himself.

The clue to the concentration of powers was seen in statements when such a measure first was hinted that Darlan would thus have his hands freer to conduct negotiations with Germany for collaboration.

Former Governor-General Dies

The Marquess of Willingdon, above, former Governor-General of Canada, died in London today following an illness. He was 74.

Marquess Of Willingdon, Former Governor-General Of Canada, Dies In London

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The Marquess of Willingdon, former Governor-General of Canada, died here today. He was 74.

Lord Willingdon, the first Governor-General of Canada to represent the King and not the British Government, was in Ottawa from 1926 until 1931 when he was appointed Viceroy of India.

He was born Sept. 12, 1866 and was educated at Eton and Cambridge.

His first important diplomatic post was Governor of Bombay, where he was stationed from 1912 until 1919 when he was appointed Governor of Madras.

GAINED BACKGROUND

These early years in India gave him a valuable background for his term as Viceroy, particularly because his term was marked by the civil disobedience campaign of Mahatma Gandhi which he was credited with check-mating.

Lord Willingdon returned to Britain in 1936 and was made a Marquess.

In 1938, with Lady Willingdon, he went to South America on a cultural mission and in November, 1940, he went again, this time as leader of a trade mission.

In Feb., 1941, during the trip to South America, his health broke down and he was forced to return to Britain.

Since then, his health has been poor and nearly two weeks ago he developed pneumonia from which he never recovered.

He is succeeded by his only surviving son, Viscount Ratendone, who was born in 1899.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Regret at the death in London of the Marquess of Willingdon, former Governor-General of Canada, was expressed at the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King today.

Mr. King sent two messages of sympathy to Lord Willingdon's widow, one official and one personal. Text of the messages was not disclosed.

City Preparing To Welcome Duke

When Air Commodore H.R.H. the Duke of Kent, K.G.K.T., G.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., alights from his special train at the C.N.R. station at 3 p.m. Wednesday he will be greeted by a holiday assemblage, keen to accord him as great if not a greater welcome than that given him 14 years ago when he made his first visit here.

After several days rest in the mountains, lakes and streams of the Jasper National Park, the Duke will resume his inspectional trip of Royal Canadian Air Force training centres.

On arrival at the station he will be welcomed by His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, Acting Premier Solon E. Low, Acting Mayor A. Blair Paterson, Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant, and a distinguished assemblage of military, air force, naval and other dignitaries.

Informality will be the keynote of the visit, which is strictly business and will include no social functions.

IN OPEN CARS

After the greetings have been exchanged at the station, the ducal party, in open cars, weather permit-

Soviet Guerrillas Capture General

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Capture of a German general by Russian guerrilla fighters was reported by the Soviet information bureau today.

The general, today's war communique said, stopped in village "L", presumably behind the German lines, because of a breakdown of his car. At this point a guerrilla detachment commanded by one Vasilyev appeared and made the general their prisoner, the Russians said.

Portugal Assets In States Freed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—The treasury freed Portuguese assets in the United States today from a sweeping order which had frozen continental European assets. A general license was issued exempting the Portuguese government, its central bank, and Portuguese nationals under certain conditions from President Roosevelt's June 14 order. Portuguese assets here were estimated at about $160,000,000.

The license was issued, the treasury said in a statement, after "Portugal gave appropriate assurances to this government."

Pershing Statue In Lafayette Park Smashed In Storm

VERSAILLES, German-Occupied France, Aug. 11—(Delayed)—(AP)—The statue of Gen. John J. Pershing in Lafayette park tumbled from its pedestal during a violent summer storm today and was smashed into hundreds of pieces.

A statue of Lafayette, facing Pershing on the other side of the highway, remained standing.

The two figures commemorate formation of the Lafayette escadrille during the first Great War.

Famed Legless Pilot Of R.A.F. Reported Missing

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Wing-Cmdr. Douglas Bader, the 30-year-old legless English airman who led the so-called all-Canadian squadron of the Royal Air Force through the battle of Britain, a year ago, was reported missing today.

Bader was personally credited with shooting down 14 planes. Last month he was awarded the bar to his distinguished, service order.

He lost both legs in a flying accident while serving with the R.A.F. in 1931. After proving he could fly with artificial limbs he managed to re-enter the service after the start of the war and carried out many daring feats.

GREAT STUNT FLIER

In one night during the height of the battle of Britain last September his squadron was credited with bringing down 14 Nazi planes.

Subsequently he was awarded the distinguished flying order for the exploit in which not a single bullet found its mark in any of his Hurricanes.

Bader is a native of London. His mother, Mrs. E. W. Hebbs of Spratborough, near Doncaster, on being notified he was missing, had

Russians Battle Two Nazi Pincer Moves

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Hard-pressed on both flanks, the Red army was reported today fighting fiercely against two Nazi nut-cracker movements around Leningrad in the north and Kiev in the Ukraine.

The Daily Star bulletin declared the Russians still held the Nazis stalemated on the central road to Moscow in the long-contested Smolensk salient.

"No major engagements took place on other directions and sectors of the front," the mid-day communique said.

The centres of fighting in the north were listed as Kakiaalmi, on the Karelian Isthmus 75 miles north of Leningrad, and in the Soltsi sector 120 miles south of Russia's second-largest city.

AIR FORCE HITS HARD

Key zones in the south still were given by the Russians as Korosten, 80 miles northwest of Kiev, and Uman, midway between the Ukraine capital and the Black Sea port of Odessa.

The communique credited the Red air force with hard blows at Nazi infantry and motorized forces along the entire front and at German air bases deep behind the lines.

The rout of a large German tank column in the Korosten area was reported in detail.

Moscow had its 17th air raid of the war last night, but the attack was described as one of the shortest and weakest the strongly-guarded capital has experienced. One German plane was said to have been downed and most of the raiders were dispersed west of the city's outskirts.

The Red air fleet reported air

BRITISH QUARTERS WARN

Japs Can Have War, Peace

By The Canadian Press

Swift-breaking developments in the Far East crisis today indicated that events were moving inexorably nearer the explosion point.

In London, authoritative quarters declared bluntly that "if Japan wants war in the Pacific there will be war, if she wants peace there will be peace."

In Tokyo, the militarist newspaper Kokumin said the United States and Great Britain had been warned that any further united anti-British pressure would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan was bent on pushing ahead with her new order in East Asia.

THREAT TO AUSTRALIA

In Melbourne, Australia's Prime Minister R. G. Menzies called his war cabinet into a second extraordinary session, and Opposition Leader J. H. Curtin commented solemnly:

"The time has come when Australia asks loyal and devoted service from her sons. I put it as plainly as I can to every Australian that the safety of this country is at stake."

In Washington, Senator Walter George of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said "It definitely is in the range of possibility" that the United States might break off all commercial relations with Japan.

JAPAN "CONCERNED"

In Shanghai, the Japanese army spokesman, Lt.-Col. Kunio Akayama, declared his government was gravely concerned over the possibility that Russia's big Pacific port of Vladivostok might become the first line of defence against Japan.

"With the United States following a virtual policy of encirclement of Japan, it is only natural that Japan is concerned that American arms and munitions might reach the Soviet Siberian forces," he said.

Akiyama asserted that current Japanese military preparations in Manchukuo, where upward of 500,000 Japanese troops are reported massing along the Soviet frontier, were "purely defensive."

ATTITUDE SAME

Koh Ishii, Japanese cabinet spokesman, expressed grave concern over any shipments of United States war materials to Russia via Vladivostok.

"Japan wishes that the United States would not send munitions," he declared. "Japan desires peace in the Pacific, and so Japan is watching such shipments with urgent concern."

He said Japan's attitude would be the same whether the supplies were sent in United States or Russian freighters.

Harvest Help

E. H. Davison, acting superintendent of the Alberta Employment Service, who reported Tuesday there was an adequate supply of harvest help in the province.

Polio Spread May Set Back School Start

Alarmed at the rapid spread of infantile paralysis in this province, with two or three new cases being reported each day, the provincial board of health convened in special session Tuesday to investigate the whole situation surrounding spread of the dread disease. Special orders dealing with preventive measures are expected to be issued in the near future.

Ways and means of preventing assembling of people and more particularly children are being sought by the board. Whether opening of schools, scheduled for Tuesday, September 1 is to be delayed, depends on further advances made by the disease. Officials pointed out that, if by the end of this month, approximately 100 cases have been reported, that it might be advisable to defer opening of schools.

To date 22 cases have been reported.

Three new cases have been reported, according to Dr. A. C. McGugan, director of communicable

Nazis Execute 117 More Serbs

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 11.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Military sources said tonight that 117 more Serbs had been executed in the last two days in various parts of German-occupied Yugoslavia because of conditions on which have spread to all sections of the kingdom.

At Zagreb, 87 were shot, the informants said, in addition to 102 executed previously. Thirty were put to death at Sarajevo. The executions followed bombings in both towns.

A 9 p.m. curfew was reported invoked over Croatia because of bombings in Zagreb.

8 Canadians Are Among 22 Killed In Plane Crash

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The Royal Air Force ferry command announced today the deaths of 22 men, eight of them from Canada, in a flying accident in the United Kingdom last Saturday. Seven were from the United States.

The brief announcement gave no further details and officials of the ferry command, which handles the flying of bombers to Britain, declined to say whether the aircraft had been en route to or from this continent.

(However, a London dispatch reporting that the plane crashed on a hillside just after leaving a British airport led to belief here that the aircraft was bound for Canada with crews to fly bombers back to Britain.

The death list included 11 captains, 10 radio operators and a flying engineer.

Six of the dead were from the United Kingdom while another was from Australia.

Interpreting War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

DESPITE new Nazi inroads on the Leningrad front and in the Ukraine, there are increasing indications that Hitler has been compelled by the fury of Russian resistance to revise his whole war plan.

His hopes of smashing the Red army before winter set in, of breaking Russia's will to continue the battle have waned. If observers in the United States and in London read the signs aright, he is now racing against time to grip the Ukraine solidly, to seize strategic ground in the north midway between the Leningrad and Moscow fronts, and then dig in for the winter.

That, at least, is the construction that can be put on both Berlin and London comments on the battle. It implies that the main German attack toward Moscow via Smolensk has come more or less to a halt. The Russians stand there, according to an eye-witness report from captured and devastated Smolensk, still is balking Nazi hopes of a quick and decisive victory. The rumble of guns eastward of Smolensk was audible to a writer for

Russ Announce Raid On Berlin

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Russian bombers raided Berlin again last night, it was announced today, attacking military objectives in the German capital area and starting fires.

"High explosive bombs of heavy calibre and incendiaries were dropped on military objectives in the Berlin area," a radio announcement said. "Fires and explosions were noticed in Berlin.

"All Soviet planes returned to their bases."

Grim Invitation To The Enemy

"Stop me and buy one" is the challenge inscribed upon this Wellington bomber of the first Canadian bomber squadron organized in Britain. A hooded skeleton dropping bombs is the plane's emblem. The bomber is one of the many engaging in daring daylight raids over German-occupied territory. This squadron is led by a wing commander, D.F.C., from Saskatchewan, who learned to fly in his spare time before joining the R.A.F. six years ago.

R.A.F. In Daring Raid On Cologne

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The Royal Air Force bombed Cologne in an audacious daylight raid today and sent a great air armada out to attack the coast of German-occupied France on a non-stop foray which sharply renewed Britain's large-scale air offensive against the Nazis.

The raid on the ancient Rhineland metropolis was described by the Press Association as possibly the heaviest daylight attack yet made on Germany. The assault on the French coast was carried out in such force that observers on the English southeast coast gave up trying to count the number of planes roaring out over the channel.

High-flying bombers and protecting fighter planes swept eastward in both "V" and diamond formations. Crowds gathered all afternoon to watch the spectacular offensive.

FIGHTER ESCORT

Targets of the fliers who attacked France were listed as a power station near Belhune and railway communications near St. Omer. The bombers were Hampdens, escorted by fighters.

Blenheim bombers were reported to have carried out the bombing of

Thai To Welcome Help If Attacked

SAIGON, Indo-China, Aug. 12—(AP)—Col. Sarabiaga, leader of the Thai boundary commission which has been engaged in fixing the new frontier between Thailand and Indo-China, said today his country would welcome foreign aid if she were attacked, but that at present there was no pressure from any quarter.

He said Thailand could not consider demands or military or naval bases or the right to transport foreign troops across her territory if they were presented. Any armed attempt to violate Thailand's neutrality would be resisted by all the means at her disposal, he declared.

Move Defeated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—The house of representatives defeated today an attempt to put extended military service on a voluntary rather than a compulsory basis in United States.

TATOI ACQUIRING NAME OF JINX AIRPORT

R.A.F. Plane Drops Entire Load Of Bombs On Hangar

Vichy French Aircraft Returning From Syria Shot Down By Germans

Uncensored

By GEORGE WELLER

Copyright, 1941, by The Chicago Daily News, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin

ATHENS—(Delayed)—(CDN)—Among the Luftwaffe personnel controlling Greek airports during the joint occupation with Italy, the principal Greek field at Tatoi outside the capital is acquiring the name of a jinx airport.

George Weller

In June a British plane followed a Nazi bomber home from a raid against Egypt and watched the combination of colored flares used to signal the Nazi anti-aircraft to hold their fire while the bomber landed.

After the German bomber was in, the Briton, who dropped the correct flares on the outer periphery of fire, did the same thing on the inside. The field floodlights, which had been extinguished as soon as the German was at his hangar, were turned on again. The R.A.F. man dived steeply upon the field and sowed his entire burden of bombs across the hangars and parked planes.

More trouble came to Tatoi in July when a Vichy French plane, returning from Syria, failed to give the correct field signal for landing. The Germans, made more alert by the preceding incident, shot it down. Only two French officers survived. Of a crew numbering about six, and they were critically wounded.

At least six plane wrecks are still visible along the field. They are apparently left there as decoys. "sitters," as pilots call them, for future R.A.F. raids.

offensives of its own ranging from the heart of Berlin to the supply bases and ports behind the German southern flank.

The Soviet bureau of information reported a bumper harvest of wheat and rye being taken in by a great worker army throughout the Southern Ukraine and the Crimean republic back of the Russian fighting line.

NAZIS CLAIM RUSS CUT OFF AT ODESSA

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Nazi spokesmen claimed today German armored units have virtually cut off large Russian forces in the Odessa area while the German air force pounded them from the skies.

Land escapes for Russian forces in the Ukrainian Black Sea area at both Odessa and Cherkassy, 60 miles eastward, now have been virtually closed, the spokesmen claimed, and the Russians were described as scrambling to withdraw their troops by sea.

The high command, stating that "operations on the eastern front continue favorably," said in its daily bulletin that the air force bombed military objectives in Moscow last night aimed at "several important railway junctions." Big fires and explosions crippled the Soviet railway facilities, the high command claimed.

D.N.B. asserted six Soviet transport vessels had been sunk by German bombers off the coast of Odessa, great oil and grain port serving the rich Ukraine area.

The German forces in the van of the encircling movement were reported to be moving down both banks of the Bug river toward Nikolaev.

This encircling movement, reports from the front indicated, coincided with a threat aimed at Odessa from the west by Nazi and Rumanian forces claimed to be advancing across the Dneister from Bessarabia.

After inspecting these two schools, he will proceed to the Normal school, where he will inspect No. 4 Initial Training Flying School.

SOLDIER, PATIENTS

Passing the Military ward of the University hospital, the Royal party will slow down to view the soldier patients on the right of the road. After inspecting the administration building of the No. 4 school, he will have tea at the officers' mess in Pembina hall and inspect typical training on the University athletic field.

Returning to his train for dinner, he will leave on a special C.P.R. train early in the evening for Medicine Hat.

If time permits the Duke may visit the Manning Pool at the Exhibition grounds.

ROUTE TO BE FOLLOWED

Following is the revised tentative itinerary for the Duke of Kent's visit:

3 p.m.: Arrive C.N.R. depot, Edmonton.

3 to 3:15 p.m.: Received at station by official reception party.

3:15 p.m.: Proceed from C.N.R. depot via 104 avenue, 101 street and Kingsway to No. 2 Air Observers' School and No. 16 Elementary Flying Training School at the city airport.

DUKE TACKLES ANOTHER PEAK

By LORNE BRUCE

JASPER, Alta., Aug. 12—(CP)—The Duke of Kent today tackled another of the ring of peaks surrounding Rocky Mountain resort 360 miles west of Edmonton.

Monday he and Inspector James Evans of Scotland Yard climbed half way up 8,000-foot mountain of Whistler mountain towering across Lac Beauvert opposite Jasper Park lodge and today the pair started out again in sports clothing for a hike up Signal mountain.

DAY'S PLANS UNKNOWN

It was expected they would return to their cabin in a few hours, but nothing was announced regarding the remainder of the Duke's program for the day.

His Royal Highness, an air commodore in the Royal Air Force,

Americans Are Dinner Guests Prince George

By LORNE BRUCE

JASPER, Alta., Aug. 13—(CP)—With one notable exception the Duke of Kent is spending his two and a half days in this Rocky Mountain resort in much the same way as most visitors.

Most people spurn the icy waters of Lac Beauvert in favor of the heated swimming pool of Jasper Park Lodge.

But the Duke, whose cabin is located on the lake's edge, has expressed his liking for "the real thing" and twice yesterday waded out over the lake's rocky bottom for a vigorous plunge in the chilly waters.

His first dip was taken before breakfast. He took another plunge late in the afternoon after climbing half way up 8,000-foot Whistler mountain.

The Duke and his aide, Inspector James Evans of Scotland Yard, made the ascent on foot and the Duke was reported later as saying he had had "a thrilling outing."

DINNER GUESTS

At dinner last night, His Royal Highness received Charles Evans Hughes, retired chief justice of the United States supreme court, and Suydam Cutting, New York big game hunter and explorer who last year organized the American Committee for Defence of British Homes.

Mrs. Cutting, and Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Wood of Toronto also were present while Mrs. Hughes was unable to accept the Duke's invitation. Mr. Wood, an industrialist, is occupying Outlook Cabin, occupied by the King and Queen during their Canadian tour.

No plans have been announced for the Duke's holiday today. He is scheduled to leave here tomorrow for Edmonton to continue his dominin-wide inspection tour of units of the Commonwealth Air Training plan.

SAT BY ROADSIDE WAITING FOR CAR

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta., Aug. 12—His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent spent most of Monday on his climb of the Whistler mountain. A unique incident happened during the latter part of the afternoon when the Duke, instead of returning by the same path he carried himself behind his return journey to another path. He arrived at the Jasper-Banff highway and waited for a car which was to return him to Jasper. No car arrived for more than half an hour so he sat on the roadside accompanied by Inspector Evans of Scotland Yard. Dozens of cars passed and must have noticed a young man in a polo shirt and slacks sitting by the roadside.

He wore dark glasses but no one picked him up until Ralph Cuhney, manager of Jasper Park Lodge, moved half a mile up the road from the previously agreed meeting place. His Royal Highness arrived back at the lodge at 6 o'clock; he cancelled his ride and spent half an hour swimming in Lac Beauvert in order to be on time for his dinner party.

While waiting for his guests, the Duke of Kent was attracted by the antics of a mother bear with two cubs. He took a handful of biscuits to the front of the cabin and chucked them to the wild animals.

Vessels At Sicily Attacked By R.A.F.

CAIRO, Aug. 12—(AP)—Torpedo-carrying Swordfish planes of the British fleet attacked ships in the harbor of Sicily, and are believed to have scored two hits on a vessel of 1,300 tons, the Royal Air Force Middle East Command announced today.

Bombs also were dropped in Gerbini airdrome in Sicily, and a hit scored on a power station in Tripoli, Libya, which set off an explosion which could be seen 100 miles away.

Tengazi, Sardis and Ain El Gazala also were violently bombed.

American Says Britain Is Next If Russia Falls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Rep. Ewing Thomason (Dem., Texas), called on the United States House of Representatives today to extend the service of draftees soldiers because he said, on the basis of expert military opinion Hitler is "going to take Russia" and then Britain will be next on the list."

"Brave old England," Thomason said amid applause. "I hope she stands. But there's not a man on this floor who doesn't know if she falls who will be next on Hitler's list."

Germany has 260 seasoned divisions in the field with 400 more in training which will be ready for service this fall, he said, adding: "Our army has 33 divisions and untrained."

NAZIS ACTIVE IN U.S.A.

While explaining he could not reveal information that had been given to the military committee in executive session, Thomason said there were more than 200 German schools in Argentina, 1,200,000 Germans in Brazil, many of them active in Nazi political propaganda groups, and declared that Germans also had numerous air bases in Latin America, some of them "within striking distance of the Panama canal."

Rep. Walter G. Andrews (Rep., New York), ranking minority member of the military committee, directed his remarks repeatedly to "the members on my side" as he urged a vote for retention of selectees "as the soundest course for security of our country and for peace."

In a frank effort to win votes, democratic house leaders had agreed to propose an 18-months limitation on additional army service instead of holding out for an indefinite extension of service.

FULL APPROVAL

Chairman Andrew May (Dem., Kentucky) of the military committee, said he would sponsor that restriction for the pending legislation with the full approval of Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem., Texas) and Democratic Leader John McCormack, of Massachusetts.

"If there was any doubt about the vote, this will fix it," May predicted.

diseases. All three were children, one each from Calgary, Red Deer and Lomond.

"Now is the time to take steps to check, if possible, any epidemic, not in two weeks or more, with the situation possibly more serious," Dr. Hogan said. Dr. McGugan said that there were 40 "iron lungs" or respirators for infantile paralysis treatment in the province, which had been made available through the benefactions of Lord Nuffield following his visit to Australia and donor of many gifts in aid of humanity.

IRON LUNGS

One iron lung is in each of the four following hospitals: Royal Alexandra, University, General and St. Joseph's. Iron lungs also are located at the following provincial points: Banff, Bassano, Beiniy, Berwyn, Bonnyville, Calgary (two), Grand Forks, Cold Lake, Coleman, Consort, Coronation, Claresholm, Didsbury, Drumheller, Edson, Elk Point, Enchant, Fairview, Grande Prairie, Hanna, High Prairie, Lac la Biche, Lacombe, Lamont, Lethbridge (two), Macleod, Medicine Hat, Mannville, McLennan, Myrnam, Smoky Lake and Trochu.

The health department has a quantity of this serum available and it is supplied on request.

A technical circular is being prepared by Dr. McGugan for distribution to the medical profession in the province. This will deal with the latest approved professional methods of diagnosing and treating the disease.

Dominion Will Encourage New Capital Inflow

OTTAWA, Aug. 12—(CP)—To give every possible encouragement to the influx of new capital for investment in Canada, the Foreign Exchange Control Board today issued a statement clarifying its policy regarding investmen's by non-residents, particularly residents of the United States basic principles underlying the board's policy is that the capital must be returned to the non-resident in the same form in which it was brought to Canada.

The Foreign Exchange Control Board said it is prepared to give sympathetic consideration to any proposals for new capital investment in Canada.

POSSIBLE ARRANGEMENTS

In particular, the following arrangements can be made:

If a non-resident sells United States dollars to an authorized dealer, that is to any Canadian branch of a Canadian bank, and invests the proceeds in any project in Canada, the board's policy is to resell the United States dollars to the non-resident investor if he should subsequently liquidate his investment. This provision does not apply to investment in marketable securities.

If the non-resident prefers to make his investment in Canadian dollars which he already owns or which he acquires from another non-resident, the board's policy is to grant the necessary permit for the repayment of Canadian dollars to the non-resident in the event that he subsequently liquidates his investment. This provision applies to investment in marketable securities.

In either of the above cases, the board's policy is to permit any capital profits realized on the liquidation of new capital investments to be freely transferred to non-residents in Canadian dollars.

PROVIDES U.S. DOLLARS

Meantime, the statement said, the board provides United States dollars at its official rates for the conversion of the net current earnings of non-resident capital invested in Canada, regardless of whether the original investment was made in United States dollars or in Canadian dollars.

Huge Reserves Of Wheat For Post-War Aid

By R. T. RICHARDSON

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—The great wheat exporting nations of the world will be prepared to set aside a huge reserve of wheat for immediate, free, post-war distribution to starving peoples of Europe under the terms of a proposed international wheat agreement now in the negotiating stage at Washington, it was understood here.

The proposal for using the world wheat surplus, practically all of it directly under the control of the democratic western powers, as an instrument of propaganda and encouragement to the little peoples of Europe in the grasp of hungry new order of the Nazis and as an instrument for establishing a genuine peaceful new system in Europe once the hostilities cease, has been mooted for some time. Confirmation obtained in Ottawa that the proposal has been included in the first tentative draft wheat agreement emerging from current negotiations at Washington. It is the definite news that Britain and the United States are giving the matter serious study.

POST GENERAL SCHEME

The prospect is seen here that the proposed wheat agreement, with its feature of free wheat for hungry Europe when the war is over, is part of a general scheme of post-war settlement beginning to take form. Associated with it are democratic co-operation, such as industrial co-ordination that is developing rapidly between Canada and the United States, the control of raw material supplies, as well as the growing world-wide economic and military fighting front.

The proposed wheat agreement also envisages mutual co-operation among the chief exporting countries—Canada, the United States, Australia and Argentina—in filling the world requirements by splitting up the business on fixed quotas. This scheme was tried out in the international wheat agreements that emerged from the world economic conference of 1933, but it broke down within a year.

At that time, world wheat requirements from exporting countries were estimated at 650,000,000 bushels compared with the figure in Canada, the board's policy is to resell the United States dollars to the non-resident investor if he should subsequently liquidate his investment. This provision does not apply to investment in marketable securities.

Missionary Dies Here At 72 Years

One of the most highly respected missionaries in western Canada, Rev. Andrew Love, 72, of 10241 114 street, died in a local hospital Tuesday following a long illness. Mr. Love had lived in Edmonton since his retirement a few years ago, after serving as a minister in many points in western Canada.

Born in Ardeelin, County Donegal, Ireland, May 13, 1869, son of Andrew Love and Margaret Anderson, Mr. Love went to Dublin Training College and entered the Irish Church Mission in 1886, and later studied at Trinity College, Dublin, in 1893 he married Susannah Morrow.

He and Mrs. Love taught in Irish schools and in the Irish Church Mission until 1903, when they came to Canada, and taught in the Battleford Industrial school, under Canon Matheson. Later, Rev. Mr. Love entered Emmanuel College in Prince Albert in the first class of under-graduates, and was ordained in 1907. After his ordination, he served in Duck Lake, Humboli, Rosthern, Prince Albert, Lacombe, Wainwright, Vegreville, Hardisty and Edgerton, and upon retirment came to live in Edmonton.

He is survived by his wife, and two daughters, Mrs. Haines of Lloydminster and Miss Bertha Love of Morinville.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Self-Rule For Slav Peoples Russian Plan

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Soviet Russia, in an effort to unite all Slavs against Germany, has come forward with a broad proposal of self-rule by Slavonic peoples scattered over the face of Europe and part of Asia.

The Kremlin's program, which contrasts sharply with the ancient doctrine of Panslavism whereby Slavs would have a large measure of political solidarity, was advanced at a current Moscow meeting of representatives of various Slav states.

"The hour has struck when the whole Slav world must unite for the earliest and final destruction of German Fascism," said a Soviet statement addressed to all Slavs.

TOLSTOI GIVES POLICY

In advancing the Soviet program, it said, however:

"We have a common, passionate and all-embracing aspiration — that Slav as well as other peoples could peacefully and freely develop within their state systems.

"We resolutely and firmly reject the very idea of Panslavism as a thoroughly reactionary trend profoundly hostile to the lofty purpose of the equality of peoples and national development of all states, which was utilised by Russian Tsarism for its imperialistic aims."

The Soviet policy was enunciated at the Moscow meeting by Alexei Tolstoi, author and grandson of Novelist Count Leo Tolstoi. He spoke as representative of Russia to Russians, Ukrainians, White Russians, Poles, Czechs, Slovaks, Serbs, Croats, Slovenes, Bulgarians, Macedonians, Carpathians and Montenegrins.

Panslavism, with which the Czars toyed and about which they did little, went out the window when the Bolsheviks seized power in Russia.

This doctrine, that all Slavonic peoples should have as large a measure as possible of political solidarity, came to the fore prominently in the 17th century as the result of the work of a Croat Catholic priest, Juraj Kirsanic.

Slav political unity had been broken by the Magyar invasion of the Danubian plains in the ninth century, which introduced a wedge of Asiatic origin between East, West and South Slavs.

5,000 MILE AIRCRAFT SUPPLY LINE

Obsolete British Planes Sent Here For Re-Assembly

Used To Train Pilots To Fly Newer, Faster Types Of Battleplanes

By JACK DONAGHUE

AN R.C.A.F. REPAIR DEPOT, SOMEWHERE IN CANADA, Aug. 12.—(BUP)—A brilliant yellow caterpillar crane rumbled up to the long row of railway flatcars on the spur track behind this well-guarded aircraft re-assembly line.

A teapot yard engine bleated twice and rattled back down the switch track for another load of plane parts from Great Britain. Hour after hour, the yellow crane unstilted back and forth along the row of flatcars, swinging the huge camouflaged crates off the flatcars to the ground.

This was the beginning—and end—of a little publicized aircraft supply line leading 5,000 miles from Britain across the dangerous Atlantic. Planes of types now becoming obsolete in modern air war are sent here for re-assembly and used in training pilots for the newer, faster types. Here, in this depot, soon to become one of the largest of its kind in Canada, swarms of aircraftsmen are busy day and night "buttoning up" aircraft parts and salvaging bits of discarded equipment that otherwise would have to be scrapped.

Most of the planes put back together here are of English manufacture—the bulk of them shark-nosed Fairey Battles and lumbering Avro-Ansons.

COMMANDING OFFICER

As commanding officer of the unit is Squadron Leader H. Pollard, veteran of the R.A.F. in 1914-'8. 30 years flying and half a dozen text books to his credit. In the early days of flying in South America, Pollard and a group of English pilots were among the first to carry the mail across the Andes—in patched up hybrid planes made from parts of various type of aircraft. When it comes to assembly and making the most out of the least—he would be a hard man to beat. The rate at which production has skyrocketed here proves that.

He is a man of medium build, sharp-eyed, and vigorous. He came back from retirement at the outbreak of war to offer his experience to the Empire Air Plan.

With Pollard, I started my tour of the plant at the spur track where aircraft were being unloaded from the flatcars and ended with flights in two planes that had just been assembled and was ready for rigorous air tests before being put back into service here in Canada's air schools.

After watching the yellow crane unload the crates we went into the building housing the initial assembly unit. The wings, motors and fuselages were taken from their separate crates. Fuselages were hoisted onto steel dollies, which incidentally, are made right here in the depot. The wings were set up in similar manner and the work of assembly had started.

TEST CHECK SHEET

Just as soon as the parts were loaded on the dollies, a test check sheet was attached to the plane. A glance at the sheet gives a good indication of the care taken by the R.C.A.F. in seeing that student pilots get a craft that is absolutely airworthy. Nothing is left to chance. The sheet contains a list of 45 major assembly operations. Each of these sheets must be checked by the mechanic who initials the test board. The non-commissioned officer on duty checks over the mechanic's work and finally an inspector makes a third check and initials the list. This is for the fuselage alone.

The motor test sheet has approximately 25 operations that are checked in the same manner. And all, an aircraft when completed for delivery will have undergone approximately 75 major and minor tests.

The work is tedious—but you can trust the assembly crew to brighten it up. On the nose of each aircraft was chalked the name of a girl and they ranged from "Dorothy" to "Joan" and "Bubbles." That was the only hint of flippancy that could be found, for they were a serious lot when it came to the work in hand.

After the undercarriage is attached to the wing, it is wheeled under the fuselage and "buttoned up" meantime, the tail assembly has been rigged and the plane is ready for engine installation.

SKILLED MECHANICS

Rolls Royce Merlin engines—used in the Spitfires and Hurricanes overseas—are used in the Fairey Battles while Cheta engines go to make up the Anson power house. Skilled mechanics install the motors under the same conditions of care and inspection.

After the assembly, the plane is turned over for a partial painting job. They arrive here camouflaged, but that isn't necessary here in Canada. The Air Force wants its student fliers to see other planes in the air. And planes forced to land can be located more easily if they have a few bright yellow spots and markings over the original camouflage.

From paint shop to ground testing crew is the next jump. This crew takes over and works and tests each control, each moveable part and examines every nut, bolt and joint.

After this step the Battles and Ansons are turned over to the test flight department. The ship is fueled up and the motor given a running test on the ground. If any "kinks" develop in this test the mechanics tear the motor down to get at the source of trouble. No plane is turned over to the test pilot until ground personnel is satisfied that it is 100 per cent.

But the boys of the R.C.A.F. love to joke.

A strapping big sergeant walked up to me with a parachute and helped me into it. It was the chest-type pack which I had never worn before.

EASY TO WORK

"They're easy to work," he grinned, "just open the hood, dive out head first and pull the ring—that clear?

"You probably won't have to use it—" he added impishly as I climbed in.

The flight needs little describing. The ground crew had done their job. A series of wing-overs and dives at more than 300 miles an hour proved that the Associated Press, first foreign war correspondent permitted to visit the city that was.

Berlin predicts that the whole great southern bend of the Dnieper south of Kiev to the Black Sea will soon be in Nazi hands. This prediction may or may not be premature. There can be little doubt, however, that the Germans' failure to break through toward Moscow on a wide front has forced a revision in Nazi war plans. The Ukraine close to the Dnieper line has become the prime objective of the Nazis.

Even under the Stalin "scorched earth" policy the Ukraine offers probable subsistance for huge German armies without the enormous strain on transportation involved in winter hauling from Germany or the Balkans.

A new Nazi stab is reported in the north. It is reported reaching Soltsi, west of Lake Ilmen and about 120 miles south of Leningrad. Soltsi appears to be an important rail junction.

The Soltsi advance is far more of a threat to Leningrad than the Nazi spearhead in the Kholm region on the Lovat river south of Lake Ilmen. Yet at Kholm the German air force would have high-ground bases available to hammer at both Leningrad and Moscow through the winter. It could blast at the many important rail junctions even east of the Volga. That is a further indication that Hitler is preparing for a winter war in the east.

Turks Suggest Major Shakeup In Government

ANKARA, Aug. 12—(AP)—A major shakeup in the Turkish government was rumored in political quarters Monday night, with Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu regarded as a probable choice to succeed Premier Refik Saydam.

The Turkish ambassador to London, Tevfik Rustu, according to sources close to the all-powerful national people's party, would become the next foreign minister if Saracoglu becomes premier.

Rumors persisting without official confirmation, were that independent elements in the party demanded "new blood" at key posts, asserting that the war crisis required that Turkey have a dynamic leadership.

One report said that Saydam already had offered his resignation but that the party decided to postpone the changes at least until September.

Saracoglu, like most Turks, is considered to have a deep suspicion of Soviet Russia, especially since his 1939 visit to Moscow when the Kremlin was known to have raised the question of joint defence of the Dardanelles.

British diplomats, on the other hand, have strong confidence in Saracoglu's ability to fulfil Turkey's obligations as a British ally, despite his years in the making of the recent friendship pact with Germany.

Neutral observers expressed the belief that regardless of whatever new faces might appear in the cabinet, Turkey's fundamental foreign policy would remain unchanged—the avowed determination to defend Turkish soil against aggression.

the announcement made to the villagers.

Before he lost his legs Bader was one of Britain's greatest stunt fliers. Although 10 years older than most R.A.F. fighter pilots, he led the Canadian squadron through the battle of Britain with unusual success.

ACHIEVES RARE HONOR

While a year ago a high proportion of the personnel of Bader's squadron was Canadian, it later dwindled and now is largely British. In the meantime several other all-Canadian formations have been organized.

In addition to the D.S.O. and Bar, Bader won the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar—an accomplishment achieved by only one other man in the service, Sqdn. Ldr. A. G. Malan, of South Africa.

Another of the R.A.F.'s most honored pilots also was reported missing today. He is Acting Flt. Lt. E. S. Lock, 21-year-old holder of the D.S.O. and D.F.C. and Bar, all awarded by the King at the same time.

Lock was called "Sawn-off Lockie" because he was so short. He was credited with shooting down 20 German planes, nine of them in one week last September.

His plane was shot down in flames over Britain and he spent three months in a hospital with severe leg wounds, a broken arm, and burns. He underwent 18 operations, left the hospital to be decorated at Buckingham Palace, and then returned to the hospital for a 16th.

Second Blackout Planned For B.C.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 12—(CP)—A second blackout for British Columbia's lower mainland and Vancouver Island district and installation of regular air raid sirens in "all vulnerable areas" was announced Monday by Attorney-General G. S. Wismer.

Mr. Wismer said the blackout would be staged in a few weeks, possibly in September. It was hoped to enlarge the area covered by the first practice blackout here May 22 when all lights in an area of nearly 500 square miles were extinguished for 15 minutes.

The attorney-general's blackout announcement was made at a conference with Dr. W. O. Glidden, federal air raid precaution officer, and Inspector S. F. M. Woodie, provincial civilian protection officer.

The Dominion A. R. P. officer said that an "adequate" warning system will be established in all "vulnerable areas" in Canada at an early date, and that ample equipment for training purposes and for any emergency that may arise will be provided.

Mr. Wismer said later that air raid sirens are to be installed by the Dominion government. During the previous blackout here police and fire department sirens and factory whistles were used to sound the warning.

East Coast May Develop Irish Moss Industry

By ALAN HARVEY

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—A new industry with intriguing possibilities as a source of foreign exchange may emerge from shallow Nova Scotia ocean beds.

Officials of the fisheries research board of Canada said today discovery of abundant quantities of a small seaweed known as Irish or Carrageen moss on rocky ledge bottoms along the Nova Scotia coast has spurred Canada's scientific interest in the plant's commercial potentialities.

Since the outbreak of war prices of bleached Irish moss have skyrocketed from the prewar rates of seven or eight cents a pound for lower grades to about 25 cents a pound. Top quality moss which formerly brought 30 cents a pound new brings several times that figure.

If a Canadian Irish moss industry can be developed economically, officials said, it will benefit the Dominion in two ways by conserving money formerly spent to import it from Europe and by attracting United States dollars to Canada.

Raked by hand from small rowboats or dories, Irish moss when dried and bleached to its finished form has a wide variety of uses, particularly as a clarifying agent in the oil and beer industries. It is used also to "stabilize" chocolate milk and prevent formation of crystals in ice cream; and in water paints, hair fixatives, therapeutics, soaps, shoe stains and leather dressings.

Twelve Brothers Enlist In Army

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 12—(AAP)—Twelve brothers of one Victorian family have volunteered for service in the Australian imperial army. Two are now prisoners of war in Greece, five are in active service abroad and five in training camps preparing to take their place beside their brothers overseas. The father is an ex-Anzac.

Farmer Pays His Trip To Camp

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

CAMP SARCEE, Aug. 12.—There's a man in camp here who paid his way 1,250 miles from the north country in order to attend the annual artillery camp here with other reservists.

He is Melvin V. Moore, farmer and illustrator of the district north of Peace Coupe, and attached to the Second Battalion Edmonton Regiment, (R)CA., since completing training at Grande Prairie last year in the 21-year-old class of compulsory trainees.

On being notified of his opportunity to attend Sarcee camp this year, Pte. Moore wrote Lt. Col. R. W. Hale, M.C., officer commanding, expressing his desire to take training.

So Moore was present right on time to exchange his "civvies" at Edmonton for a uniform, web equipment, rifle and all the rest of it. Late Saturday night two weeks ago, he embarked with the rest of the regiment, men from all over the province, and has been a popular member of the 40th "gang" ever since.

Moore believes that every man in the Dominion should take annual military training under battle conditions, in peace-time or war. "Hardly anybody can take orders and like them," he says, "and some training in taking orders would solve a lot of our problems."

PTE. CRESSWELL IS NAMED 'STICKMAN'

CAMP SARCEE, Aug. 12—Pte. R. "Red" Cresswell is one of the proudest and happiest members of the Second Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, (R) CA, training at the present time under canvas at Sarcee.

The reason is that he has been named the "colonel's stickman." Picked as the smartest soldier in the regiment, Cresswell was presented with the colonel's stick in a brief ceremony before 321 members of the regiment.

A member of the regimental guard that guarded the camp one night last week, Cresswell has been with the unit about a year.

CAMP SARCEE, Aug. 12—Two Social Credit members of the Provincial government are working for the defence of their country in the ranks of reserve units in training here.

They are Lieut. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary, of the Second Battalion Edmonton Regiment, (R) CA, and Hon. Lucien Maynard, M.L.A., private in the 20th Field Brigade, (R) CA. Orvis A. Kennedy, former Social Credit M.P., is also serving with the Edmonton Regiment.

This record of three government officials under canvas bids fair to put to shame Calgary's record. The mayor of the cow town won plaudits of his fellow-Calgarians when he donned khaki for two weeks at Sarcee in July.

Hepburn Planning To Do War Work

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 12—(CP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario said in an interview here Monday night he has offered to resign as premier of Ontario and leader of the provincial Liberal party and go to England to engage in war work.

The premier said he planned to go to England as assistant to J. P. Bickell, who holds a high executive post in the ministry of aircraft production. "I am awaiting word," Hepburn said. "I am prepared to resign my office and go as a private citizen, if Ottawa would like that better, or to name a successor agreeable to the Liberal party who would be acting premier. I am not particular how I go over."

The premier said that when word comes "I'll go without delay."

"I have not taken the whole matter up with the cabinet, but I intend to discuss it with council today."

He disclosed that he had conferred with Bickell who was in Canada several weeks ago. The offer to the British government was made to Lord Beaverbrook, then minister of aircraft production, through Bickell.

Macdonald Talks Ship Construction

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Canadian Navy Minister Angus Macdonald reported on Canada's shipbuilding program today in a conference with Vice-Admiral B. A. Fraser, third sea lord, with whom he had an "interesting discussion" on destroyer and merchant ship construction.

The conference, attended also by Rear-Admiral Percy Nelles, chief of staff, and Capt. F. L. Houghton, director of plans, who accompanied their chief to Britain, came at the end of a busy morning devoted to meetings with Air Commodore L. F. Stevenson and Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, respectively heads of Canadian air and military headquarters in London.

Save Gasoline

It would be a serious reflection on the intelligence and good will of the people of Canada if the Government were forced to drastically ration gasoline.

Yet this will inevitable be the next step unless Canadians voluntarily curtail their private gasoline consumption much more effectively than they have done up to the present time.

The gasoline situation is serious. There is plenty available for war purposes if its use is reduced in private automobiles.

Up to the present, the individual has been accorded the liberty of striking a balance between his patriotism and his pleasure. Unless that balance inclines much more plainly towards patriotic abstinence, the individual is surely going to lose his freedom of choice.

Now the loss of this freedom of choice will be embarrassing to everybody. If rationing restrictions are placed on gasoline, these regulations cannot attempt to distinguish between legitimate business use and illegitimate pleasure use of motor fuel.

Strict rationing will not only curtail the waste of gasoline in pleasure expeditions but will also work some hardship on those who consume gasoline in their businesses.

That is why Ottawa is extremely reluctant to impose a compulsory rationing system. That is why the department appeals again for the co-operation of the public.

Only an immediate public response to this appeal, a drastic curtailment of gasoline consumption in pleasure cars, will avoid strict measures that no one will enjoy.

If you sensibly think that a little gasoline is better than no gasoline, put yourself on short rations right now.

Diplomatic Breaks

Vichy shows a marked inclination to further collaborate with the Germans in the matter of handing over North African colonies for use as Nazi bases.

Immediately a report is issued that Washington will break off diplomatic relations with Vichy as a means of punishing France for this flagrant breach of faith.

It is to be hoped that Washington will do nothing so silly.

Where a rupture of diplomatic relationships is a formal and inevitable prelude to war, such a step has some value. It is a grave warning to the capital thus diplomatically vacated.

But the United States has absolutely no intention of declaring war on France. If she is forced to occupy any French possession, this step will be clearly identified as a measure of protection for the United States against German aggressors and as a measure designed to preserve the empire for the French people rather than to rob them of it.

To break off relations with Vichy would be an indication of pique rather than of threatening displeasure.

One does not march off in a dignified huff after an altercation with a child. And Vichy, morally and intellectually, is no more than a wayward and very foolish child.

Besides, a break with Vichy would mean that Admiral Leahy would have to come home. And no matter what agonies the admiral is enduring in Vichy, he is still doing a first-class job in holding the allied sword over stupid pro-Nazi heads.

To recall the American ambassador at this point would be to withdraw one of the most powerful restraining influences on the Darians and the Lavals who would hand France over to Adolf Hitler on a platter.

Japan Takes Heed

If Japan's attention has shifted from Thailand to Siberia, as many competent observers claim, it may be accepted as a certainty that the firm stand of Great Britain and the United States in regard to the threatened southern aggression has had definite results and that Japan is not yet ready, in spite of German promptings, to risk a clash with the Allied powers in the Pacific.

To explain Japan's movements on a double front, that is to say, both in Indo-China and Manchukuo, the specious theory has been promulgated that the threat in the south was merely a feint to conceal the real purpose in the north—and vice versa.

Actually, there could have been no purpose in making a masking movement in either direction.

The world expects Japan, as an accomplice of Germany, to strike in Siberia. The world also expects Japan, as a convicted international bandit, to strike southward into Thailand and the Dutch East Indies. Thus, there was no need for dissimulation in either case.

The plain truth is probably this, that Japan's inclinations led her south. Her desire to bedevil Russia leads her north.

The southern expansion has been checked because Japan has been operating for years on a huge and offensive bluff. Japan, therefore, turns reluctantly northward.

There is probably no more devious statesmanship involved than just that.

The Democratic Pattern

Canada and the United States are also doing some collaborating, but not in the Hitler-Darlan pattern. They have made a joint-defence agreement by which they present a solid front to any attempt to import aggression into this continent. They have made a pool arrangement by which they are working together to supply Britain and themselves with munitions. Now they are to set up an inter-nation planning board, to study the question of adapting this wartime co-operation to the post-war times.

This is one respect in which pre-war conditions are not likely to return, and should not return, when the fighting is ended. In either country many industries are being created according to natural facilities and advantages, with a view to supplying requirements of both. That is significant of how completely we have broken with the absurdity that the two should be economically insulated from each other by artificial barriers. To re-erect these barriers on the principle of thorough-going economic nationalism in after-war years would be sheer waste, and neither will be able to afford waste when they have paid for the war or capitalized its costs.

One good result may be credited to the menace that overhangs both countries. We are indeed in both a more common sense view of production and trade. It is hardly possible that we shall return to the semi-hostile attitudes of pre-war days and each aim to have as little as possible to do with the other.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1891—50 Years Ago

Dr. Royal arrived on Tuesday from Montreal and will practice here.

W. C. Tims, brother of F. F. Tims of Fort Saskatchewan, has opened a store in the south side of the building formerly occupied as a Crown timber office.

In May of this year there were 60 homestead entries in the Edmonton land office, in June 78, and in July 64—202 in these three months. During the past week there were only two entries.

The excursion from Calgary has been postponed until Monday next, when it is expected a large party will arrive by train, taking advantage of the excursion rates to visit the northern metropolis.

The railway water tank is completed, the engine house ready and the station well under way. The water for the tank will be pumped from a well by an engine. At all the other C. and E. stations windmills are used.

The Calgary baseball team will arrive on Monday's train and will play the Edmonton team on Tuesday afternoon.

1901—40 Years Ago

The ceremony in connection with the laying of the corner stone of the new Presbyterian church will take place Monday afternoon. The stone is to be laid by Rev. James Robertson, D.D., superintendent of home missions.

The Dowager Empress of Germany, mother of Emperor William and sister of King Edward, died at Kronstad.

The town council met W. H. Moore, solicitor for Mackenzie and Mann, at a special meeting on Saturday to discuss clauses in the agreement under which the company is entering the city.

The Kenora Island Club will remove their gasoline launch from Big Lake to Cooking Lake.

John Fraser left for the north Tuesday to take charge on behalf of the Northwest government of improvements to the road from Lesser Slave Lake to Peace River.

1911—30 Years Ago

London: James Lee Finney, American actor, perished in a fire which damaged the Carleton hotel.

Regina: The first G.T.P. passenger train entered this city today.

The western wheat crop is estimated at 217,500,000 bushels.

For the first time in baseball history an outfielder made a triple play unassisted, in a game between Los Angeles and Vernon.

1921—20 Years Ago

At 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the Stewart government formally relinquished control of provincial affairs, the resignation of Premier Stewart being handed to the Lieutenant-Governor.

Following is the first draft of the new executive council which was partially endorsed at the two-day conference of U.F.A. members. The portfolios may be alterations, since the members found themselves unable to agree as to the division of departments. H. Greenfield, premier and acting treasurer; J. E. Brownlee, attorney-general; Perrin Baker, minister of education; George Hoadley, minister of agriculture; R. G. Reid, minister of municipal affairs and health; Vernon W. Smith, minister of railways and telephones; Alex Ross, acting minister of public works.

Tromsoe, Norway: Wilkins' submarine, the Nautilus, is reported adrift in the Arctic seas, having got out of control because of engine trouble.

Washington: Under the agreement to make the Hoover moratorium effective all suspended debt payments become unconditional obligations of the debtor governments, to be paid over ten years beginning July 1st, 1932.

Calgary: Wells in Turner Valley are closed down under Government orders calling for a pressure test.

Ottawa: Labrador is reported to be for sale, at a price of $110,000,000.

"By Such Small Thing's See England", Says Thompson

Little Events And Little People Give True Picture Of British Isle

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

LONDON—(By Wireless).—The Archbishop of Canterbury, frail in black gaiters, a huge gold cross on his chest, his white hair like an aureole around his pale, old face is framed in the shattered arches of the Twelfth Century chapel in Lambeth Palace, which has been the residence of the head of the Church of England for 800 years.

Dorothy Thompson

"All ruined," he says, "but like an act of God the altars were untouched."

His chin trembles. . . .

The Sixteenth Century Library is gutted, the floor littered with cinders and burned books. "It is very hard to burn a book." The leaves cleave together under pressure. Only the flyleaves burn. I began one. It is dated 1768 and written in Latin. "The Cannon Law of France."

The House of Commons, bombed and burned, is clean and slick-looking in the empty cellar-like ruin so strangely small. The middle is black. On much of what once was the floor charred papers are scattered. "Votes and proceedings of the House of Commons, Monday, the 8th of June, 1868". . . . Of galleries flanking the House where eyes demolished nays untouched.

England still says no.

Gallows Humor

The gallows humor and ironic understatement of Londoners. . . . The taxi driver's account: "Nothing happened to me throughout it all, but me Aunt Maud 'ad a bit of a bad time. 'Ad 'er 'ead blowed off." . . . A fire fighter says, "We wasn't what you'd call really prepared at first for the fires, but the bombings were a bit of an innovation in England."

The fire fighters . . . men and women sleeping in stations on mattresses on the floor ready to spring into the streets at the sound of the siren. . . . An immense army of fire, part-time workers, whole-time workers, paid and unpaid ladies and ladies' maids, dentists and carpenters, lawyers and seamstresses, Oxford accents, East End accents, each knowing his or her exact task, each ready for unforeseen emergency —fire-fighters, soldiers of the realm.

Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor, broad and brawny, says, "I talked that pacifist palaver, too. Now I know that you have to create peace not hope for it by default. I now know the defense of the people is the first social service. But the man who works, must eat, and you cannot revolutionize diet in the midst of war. Coal miners sometimes lose from three to seven pounds in weight in one day's hard mining. A miner's wife and children cut their own rations in order to feed their man. Tell the worker workers in the United States to see that we get more meat, sugar, cheese and tea. That is a British workman's diet."

A Cambridge intellectual: "Workers are eating more sensibly than they have in years. They always had too much protein and not enough vegetables."

Take your choice.

Universities Deserted

Rosy Cambridge and gray Oxford are deserted by half of their students. All the classicists in history and poetry majors have been drafted; scientists and engineers are exempt. "They must complete their education. We shall need them." Mr. Chips is out of a job. . . . Sir Arthur Eddington is engaged in war research work; Sir Herbert Richmond, Cambridge naval historian, discussing detachedly the similarities and differences of this and the Napoleonic wars; Professor Toynbee of Oxford struggling for the "long view."

Conscientious objectors are more tolerantly treated in this war than in the last. They are gravely heard before a tribunal and after being exempted from military service they volunteer in the most dangerous civilian service, such as bomb evacuation and fire fighting, but they are cold shouldered by their fellows. They suffer and argue.

The frantic applause of the people in a cinema during a newsreel of farewells. "Their ways ain't our ways, but they gotta right to their own ways and they're giving 'im a time." Then comes the sudden realization that I have never heard Adolf Hitler's name mentioned. It is always "he."

Never in London

A young girl, pink, white and fluffy-haired, in the Khaki uniform of the auxiliary army, trudging six miles from Oxford to join a camp where she is a telephone operator. "It's a wonderful life. We all love it, only you don't get to see your mother often. We do get homesick. I've never been in London. Is it really so bad there? I saw a bomb only once, and it fell in a field. I never met an American before. Are they nice people? We think they are heroes for helping us when they didn't actually need to. We sing songs about Americans. There's one we called 'God Bless America.' Did you ever meet one of those beautiful film stars?"

V. Sackville-West, England's most soil-bound and refined novelist and poet, avoiding politics and never mentioning war, is organizing a land army of girls.

. . . As a trained horticulturist, moving orchids from greenhouses to make way for golden bantam corn. She says, "If you want to do real service for England tell them there are other vegetables than cabbage and potatoes."

At Knole, her childhood home, is one of England's greatest country houses, standing proud and winsome above the freshly-ploughed fields. "Three hundred and sixty-five bedrooms and you can bet it won't be bombed. Goering's got his eye on it."

Great country houses are servantless, and Robert, former Archduke of Hanoburg, is washing dishes.

To Save Churches

Young architects formed in a special organization to save the churches of Christopher Wren, and spires are still standing after a church fell in half blasted away. . . . The wonderful resilience of spires and trees. . . . The freshly-planted marigolds are the first flowers to enshrinement in the path of every blitz.

Strange fences like hop poles over the golden and sheaved cornfields. "Airplane traps."

The Lord Chancellor is describing the system of courts already set up for industrial disputes, every community in case of invasion. "Justice must continue to be dispensed. Without it there is no England."

Why Partiality For Japan?

Puzzled by Consideration Shown By U. S. For Antics of Japanese

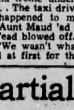

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK.—What's the penalty in this country for first degree eavesdropping?

I need to know.

If it isn't too severe I plan to put on my eavesdropping suit (a snappy handme-down from my older brother who used to be a leading peeping Tom) and start working the eaves around the State Department Building in Washington.

I'm powerful curious to know just exactly what tie-up this country has with Japan.

H. McLemore

Apparently, the only way to get this information is to mingle with the key wines that climb on the State Department Building and sneak a listen to a conversation between Cordell Hull and Sumner Welles and other big-wigs of the Foreign Policy Bureau.

I don't want to spend the rest of my life in jail, but I'll be willing to risk a short stretch in the calaboose to learn the real reason for this country's kid glove treatment of the Japanese?

Aren't we a bit serious about why we are so hard-boiled with Germany and Italy and so considerate of their side-kick, Japan? Have you ever wondered why this country carries a blackjack for Hitler and Mussolini, and only a powder puff for the sawed-off Sons of the Rising Sun?

Sure, you have, because it doesn't add up, no matter what view you take, be it worm's eye, bird's eye or black eye.

Why Not Japan?

Japan is in the Axis, there can be no mistake about that.

It's Berlin to Rome to Tokio just as it was Tinker to Evers to Chance. Every week or so the Japanese make a hell of a to-do with a re-declaration of their partnership in the International Society of Cut-throats, and for the life of me, I don't see why we aren't just as bitter toward them as we are toward their buddies in international crime.

Too, isn't Japan fighting our pal, China? Why isn't Japan's war with China just as real to us as Germany's with Great Britain? Everything was strictly on the up-and-up, we would be. There wouldn't be any partiality shown.

But there is.

Any American with the IQ of a retarded mountain goat can see that.

A blast against Adolf and Benito is the order of the day in Washington. You can almost set your watch by the attacks on these two home-spun scoundrels. That's exciting, and makes mighty good reading. But how many scorching attacks on Japan have you read? How often does Washington have a representative on the floor against the Emperor and Konoye and the other chopstick chappies?

About once a blue moon, and even then the reprimand is usually couched in language that wouldn't hurt the feelings of a sensitive butterfly. True, we put the freeze on them, but that is a measure that is as double-barreled as a shotgun. They put it right back on us. We had no sooner put their assets in the refrigerator than they stuck ours right in the cooler alongside the butter and green salad.

Too Easy For Them

This country didn't get too het up over the recent bombing of the British at Tsiulis, at Chungking by Japanese airplanes. The Japanese ambassador, Admiral Kichisaburo, Nomura, on his high horse, had in a ten minute talk with Mr. Welles, straightened everything out. The Admiral undoubtedly got a bottle of aspirin and assurances that such an accident wouldn't happen again until next time.

So you see why I want to do a little eavesdropping. I want to know the reason for this consideration of Japan. I am beginning to feel that the Japanese know about something we don't, or something, and are practicing some sort of oceanic blackmail.

The government is wrong, I believe, in not letting the citizens in on the show. They may not know it in Washington but the country has the feeling that any alarm over Japan's actions is foolish, and that even if it wakes up some morning and finds the Mississippi filled with Japanese cruisers, that the government has probably arranged for it in the name of good, clean international fun.

If the Japanese really are our pals, why not tell us so?

There's no sense in our wasting our anger.

After all, we may need it later on.

Gasless Nights

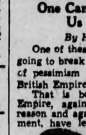

Let's Not Fool Ourselves

Time For Greatest Effort; No One Can Win the War For Us But Ourselves

By HAROLD L. WEIR

One of these days, Russian resistance is going to break a little and an unholy wave of pessimism will sweep over the entire British Empire.

That is because the people of the Empire, against all common sense and reason and apparently better judgment, have let themselves fall into the way of thinking that Russia can win the war for us besides ourselves.

Harold L. Weir

The British government has not fumbled into this error.

It is quite evident that Mr. Churchill and his colleagues are making desperate attempts to inspire a supreme British effort against the Nazis. It is quite evident that Churchill expects to face many difficult problems and equally difficult situations before Hitler is beaten. He has already successfully squelched the notion that, Russian campaign or no Russian campaign, Britain is in deadly danger of an invasion attempt some time this year.

But Mr. Churchill's sober grasp of the situation is plainly not shared by millions of hysterical citizens in this country and possibly in Britain who read into Russian successes the doom of Adolf Hitler without any further effort on their part.

It is a grotesque dream from which we are going to awaken, one of these days, with a dismaying shock.

If Russia Wins

Even if Russia wins the contest with Germany, it will not be the kind of victory that can possibly offer us any security. It will be a victory for Russia, a Russian cup of scorched fields, razed cities and a desolated countryside.

The city of Smolensk is a typical case in point.

For many days the fate of Smolensk was a mystery. Both the Russians and the Germans claimed victory there.

What actually happened was this:

When the Germans came into Smolensk, there was only a shell of a city. It was burned and deserted.

Thus, both sides were correct in their claims to victory. Actually, the Germans had taken the place. But the Russians had seen to it that there was nothing there to take. Both had won.

The same thing could be repeated throughout Russia.

The Caucasus will probably take the Ukraine. But there will be no crop. They may drive into the Caucasus. But the oil wells will be blown up.

There is nothing, however, to prevent the Germans from raising a crop in the Ukraine next year or drilling new wells in the Caucasus—factory and, in the long course of a long war must tell against Britain.

We must remember that cities mean nothing to the Russians who are anciently and essentially a nomad people. Thus, preparations are steadily being made to destroy Moscow and Leningrad if the Germans get too close. In the capital, the Russovites are mining buildings drilled in the destruction of buildings if Moscow has to be abandoned.

We may take it as a fact that, no matter how gallant their defense and how surprisingly efficient has been their war machine, the Russians hope for no better victory than this.

It is a victory that may satisfy the Russians. It is not a victory that will do us much good.

British Gains

It would be foolish to deny, of course, that the Russian embroilment has inflicted tremendous losses on the Germans and has created magnificent opportunities for the British.

The Germans are weakened and we are strengthened by it.

But we have got to seize our opportunities and clinch the victory for ourselves. We must not delude ourselves into thinking that Hitler will bleed to death of the Russian-inflicted wounds unless we ourselves administer the coup de grace.

The British government is fully aware of the sense of the situation. The British people, including ourselves, are not.

It is not the governments that must make the effort, but we, the people.

Over here in Canada that means complete and utter co-operation with the government and its various agencies in every possible particular.

It means an enthusiastic response to recruiting appeals.

It means additional purchases of War Savings Certificates.

It means intelligent economies for the purpose of diverting more money into war channels.

It means rigid conservation of all war materials.

Of particularly pressing importance at the moment, it means an heroic effort to effect the greatest possible conservation of gasoline.

We Will Win

We may expect a general deterioration, from now on, in the Russian war news.

If we have misled ourselves into thinking of the Russian campaign as a decisive factor in the war, we will be horribly depressed by it.

If, however, we have had the good sense to think of the Russian campaign as no more than a phase in the war, something for us, not a victory, but an opportunity for victory, it need not affect our spirits.

The Russian affair, no matter who wins, has increased our chances of victory.

We can translate those chances into an accomplished fact only by our own individual efforts.

This new opportunity to win the war can be rallied down as a certainty, not only by generals and armies and fighting men, but by every common citizen.

If it was necessary to recruit seriously three months ago, it is ten times more necessary now.

If it was necessary to loan money to our government in June, it is much more essential now.

If it was desirable to conserve gasoline and other war materials early in the year, that desirability has grown now into a dire urgency.

For the Russian situation has precipitated a crisis in our affairs. It is a crisis that, with the weight of every British man and woman behind it, can be converted at length into an overwhelming British victory.

Your Opinion

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Forty Milers"

Editor, Bulletin: Every Canadian must do his utmost to win this war. We all know that.

Many times, however, we are baffled when we try to translate the "will" to contribute our utmost into "action." There is one thing that I believe every Canadian can do to help vitally. Whether driving an automobile, or not, each Canadian can "join and help" the Forty Milers of Canada." Enlistment in this organization calls for no cash; it demands only the writing, signing and mailing of a simple pledge.

"Whereas the conservation of gasoline is a vital factor for victory, therefore:

(1) I pledge myself, when driving an automobile, never to exceed a speed of 40 miles per hour.

(2) I pledge myself to urge all my friends to do likewise.

(3) I hereby petition the government of this province to enact and enforce, a regulation limiting speed on all highways in the province to 40 miles per hour."

Such a pledge, signed by the citizen with his full name and address, and mailed to the undersigned, constitutes membership in "The Forty Milers of Canada."

Adherence to the pledge, by individuals and companies who operate automotive vehicles, will increase highway safety; decrease highway maintenance; and conserve gasoline.

The slogan of this organization is "Forty Miles to Victory."

The writer will be glad to hear from as many of your readers as are interested in this vital contribution to victory.

Russians Holding

Editor, Bulletin: It needs no deep knowledge of war tactics to know that all things fairly equal, a defending force, fighting with courage, can rip the attackers to pieces. Such is the case in Russia now, where the Nazi lie factory is working overtime claiming fantastic "victories."

In new material and morale, the Nazis have no edge over the Red Army, are forced to admit that Soviet troops fight savagely, quite unfair to the power-mad, war-frenzied Nazi-warlords, who, up till now, have had easy going with unprepared opponents.

The British mission in Moscow avers that the Soviet air force is equal to the Luftwaffe and Russian tanks are more than good enough for the panzers in quality and numbers. The only deduction is that the Nazis must be suffering enormous losses and anything must be done to bolster up the home front for the shock. Therefore, the louder the trumpeting, the worse punctured is the bloated Nazi war machine.

Queue Surprise

BIRMINGHAM POST

Queues can become a habit, often with comical results. For example, there is the case of a woman with a large shopping basket containing several portions of sausages, who saw a large queue and promptly joined in.

After progressing steadily forward for about 10 minutes, she was assailed with doubt by the appearance of her companions, and inquired: "What are they selling?"

"Selling!" exclaimed her neighbors. "This is a queue of volunteers for blood transfusion!"

VERMILION

Progress Recorded At Vermilion Town

Vermilion municipal hospital board held a regular monthly meeting Saturday with all members present. Treasurer's statement showed cash on hand at $25,900. Accounts amounting to $5,100, were passed on building progress and $2,000 current on expenses.

The S. W. S. Drilling Company has purchased a lot on Main street to build pipe racks.

Cutting has been in full swing all week. Crops are short in the straw and generally light.

Superintendent Schultz of the provincial health department paid an official visit to the local hospital on Thursday.

Mothers and Children Enjoy Holiday Gift

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LACOMBE, Aug. 12.—Fifty children from Edmonton and many other points in northern Alberta are enjoying a splendid holiday at McLaurin Beach, Gull Lake, as a result of the philanthropic spirit displayed by an Edmonton woman who desires to remain anonymous.

Saving the sum of $100 during the winter, the children's "good Samaritan" decided to combine her own vacation with an act of good will. The children and a number of mothers who were unable to afford a vacation were brought to the Baptist camp, which their benefactor had leased, "rock, stock and barrel," for a short period.

At the camp, the children have been enjoying land and water sports, sing-songs, hikes and everything that goes with a good vacation, and have also been given some religious teaching.

PERINTOSH

Elevator Manager Funeral Saturday

Funeral for William Barry, 55, manager of the Federal elevator here for the past four years, who died at the University Hospital, Edmonton, on Thursday, was held at Ponoka, on Saturday, with interment in the family plot in the Ponoka cemetery. His wife predeceased him four years. Gordon Barry, Perintosh, is the only child of the Barrys.

Rev. Hilmer Nordlund, pastor of Hillcrest Baptist church, Calgary, has been the guest of his sisters, Mrs. Hilda Saffran and Mrs. Cecil Campbell here.

OLDS

Changes Are Made In School Staffs

After three years' work in the Eagle Point school at Sundre, where he was also secretary of the A.T.A. local, and the Sundre School Fair, William W. Parker will move, with his family, to Alliance where he has been appointed to the teaching staff.

Miss E. Dean, who spent the past month holidaying with her sister Nancy in the Columbia icefields area has returned to spend a few weeks with her parents. She will teach in the Olds school division again this year.

Teachers returning from industrial art courses at Edmonton last week were: Miss L. W. Parker, F. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weir.

Lovell Palmore, of Westcott school, will take charge of Harmattan school for the next term.

The district school board is building a new two-roomed school at Torrington.

V

CLIVE

Miss Vivian Murdoch has returned to Edmonton to continue her training at the Misericordia hospital after having spent a three-weeks' vacation with her parents in Clive, and friends at Innisfail.

Rev. F. Forster and family have returned to Clive after having spent a three weeks' vacation at their summer cottage at Gull Lake.

CADOMIN

Word has been received here that Jos Thirlwell, has enlisted in the R.C.A.F. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thirlwell of Cadomin, and was formerly employed by the Cadomin Coal Co.

EVANSBURG

Proceeds from the Evansburg Red Cross Society sports day and dance on July 25, amounted to $62.

CORONATION

The dry weather still prevails. Rain is urgently needed as serious conditions are developing. Immediate rains would still greatly benefit late sown grains and hay crops in this district.

Claude Luke, son of Mrs. Wm. Biddle, left for Edmonton to join the R.C.A.F. Three of Mrs. Biddle's sons are now serving.

V

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith, residents of Calmar for the past ten years, held a sale of all their belongings, and left Calmar for Winnipeg, where Mr. Smith has received an appointment as an electrician in a government plant. Before the Smiths left Calmar friends held a farewell party and presented them with a chest of community silver.

"You get out of my green apples, or there won't be any ripe ones for your mother to borrow when she wants to make pies!"

Brothers In Army Meet In England

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

CORONATION, Aug. 12.—Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Leard received a letter from their son George, who arrived overseas on July 2. He was having a short visit with his brother, Arthur, who went overseas in June, 1940, as a member of the R.C.E. George arrived at the officers' quarters while Arthur was reading a letter from home saying George was in Coronation on embarkation leave. This caused the boys considerable amusement. Three of the Leard boys are serving with the Canadian army.

STROME

Wheat Cutting Starts At Strome

Wheat cutting has become general this week. Most fields of oats, barley and greenfeed are in "very bad" condition; gardens are dry. No rain has fallen in this district for weeks.

The C.P.R. property has been undergoing changes and repairs. The freight shed has been made smaller, and a new platform and runway have been built.

KILLAM

Dairyman Joins Army, Sells Dairy

W. Remin, who has operated a dairy in town for the past year, has joined His Majesty's forces. Saturday he held an auction sale of his stock and equipment. Mr. Remin reports for duty August 11. Mrs. Remin and the two children will remain in Killam.

War Described As Battle For Man's Freedom

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 12—(AP)—Richard G. Casey, Australian minister to the United States, declared here Monday night that the democracies will lose their political and economic freedom if democracy loses the war even if they never are invaded.

The Australian minister was a speaker at the 23rd annual convention of the Iowa American Legion.

In his prepared address, Mr. Casey asserted:

"This is no more 'Britain's war' or 'Brazil's war'—or your war. This is no limited war about places on a map—this is an attempt on the grand scale to make Germany once and for all master of the world.

"In spite of the tragic events of the last two years—in spite of all that Hitler has written and said and done—in spite of all your president has said—there are still a number of people who believe that this is a European war," he continued.

This is not a European struggle, he warned, "but a great world wide battle, for the freedom of mankind against the brutal strength of tyranny."

Australians, he said, "have never been in any doubt as to what this war was about."

"We all know that if democracy loses this war, the democracies will lose their political and economic freedom—and we with them—and that is to us necessary for us to be invaded for this to come about."

Opens Shelter

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP)—Mrs. John Winant, wife of the United States ambassador to Great Britain, Monday night opened a new air raid shelter in Battersea, London, the British Broadcasting Corporation said. The shelter was paid for from an American-subscribed fund and was equipped by an American youth organization.

Citizens Urged Find Place For Ex-Service Man

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 12.—(CP)—Canadians must find a place and an opportunity for returned veterans of the present war, Gen. H. F. McDonald, chairman of the Canadian Pensions Commission, told delegates to the 12th biennial convention of the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion Monday.

"No apology should be made for considering post-war problems during a war," he continued. "As we well know it is too fatally easy for a country to get into a war, and too difficult for a country to cure evils created by a war." He said an intelligent consideration of post-war problems must embrace war effort "while it is going on."

"Ex-servicemen are coming back to be established and government can do a great deal, but essentially it comes down in the city to which that man returns to decide whether he finds a 'place there,'" Gen. McDonald said. "When the war is over there is going to be a period of exhaustion but that nation which will not be content to sit down and lick its wounds is the nation that is going to go ahead."

Five Occupants Of Missing Lake Yacht Are Safe

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., Aug. 12—(CP)—Five persons aboard the 25-foot cabin cruiser "Dolly Dean," missing since they left Southampton Sunday morning bound for Stokes Bay, Ont., were taken off a ferry boat by the Hunter lifeboat Monday night following unsuccessful rescue operations earlier when lake storms stopped a tow line.

The five are Capt. Edwin T. Hamilton, former Cleveland, Ohio, author and now resident at Stokes Bay; Mrs. Kathleen Simon and her two children, Marian, 14, and Thomas, 15, of Cleveland, and Jack Smith, Stokes Bay seaman.

Hitler Will Give Dominion To U.S.

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP) — The Daily Mirror said today that Hitler has proposed to give Canada to the United States in a new propaganda peace drive he has just launched.

"The newspaper said the proposals were delivered to American isolationists in the form of a personal message from the Fuehrer. The Hitler proposals, The Mirror added, were based on the assumption he will control all of Europe and the British Empire.

The proposals, according to The Mirror:

Absorption of Canada by the United States.

The United States to regard the Caribbean Sea as an exclusive American zone of interest.

Strict delimitation of zones of interest to be agreed upon in South America.

Europe to mediate between the United States and Japan and to delimit their interests in the Far East.

A new limitation pact between Europe and the United States.

McCoy Health Service

Perhaps there is no disorder which causes more inconvenience and distress than flatulence or gas and many times the victim complains of other conditions brought about by gas, being unaware that the true cause may be traced to this flatulence.

Patients may complain of sleeplessness night after night, and when sleep does come, it may be disturbed by dreams or nightmares. Then again, he may think he has heart disease, due to attacks of heartburn or palpitation caused by the pressure of the excessive gas in the stomach pressing up against the diaphragm. At times the flatulence will cause the abdomen to become distended and the pain may be very severe until the gas is expelled. When there is fermentation in the lower intestines the patient may become worried that he has developed acute appendicitis.

The cause may usually be found to be due to over eating, or to the eating of meals which are badly balanced, producing fermentation and consequently gas. At times the victim may trace one particular item of food which he soon learns to avoid, and this same item of food may have no effect whatever upon another person. However there are certain foods which are known to be gas-forming and these include garlic, onions, cooked cabbage, brussels sprouts and so on. I have seen cases where immediate relief was experienced when these foods were avoided. Then again, if the intake of food is too great, even though the food is good, the digestion will be to impede digestion by overloading the capacity of the gastro-intestinal tract. One of the most common causes of gas may be traced to bad and inharmonious food combinations. It has been established as a definite fact that an excessive intake of the starchy foods promotes fermentation, especially if they are used with the proteins. The best plan is to select liberal quantities of the fresh leafy green in both the cooked and raw form, avoiding the sugars and starches at least for a time. Fresh fruits may be used, and these may be stewed without sugar, or eaten raw. A daily portion of lean meat may be used, but should be prepared in any manner except by frying. Sausages and other prepared meats should be avoided. I suggest that those readers who would like to have complete information on the subject, send for Dr. Frank McCoy's special articles entitled "How Gas Is Formed" also "The Danger of Gas" and "Curing Flatulence." Just address your request to the McCoy Health Service, enclosing a large self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in stamps and all three will be promptly mailes to you.

Whit Officiates

An Edmontonian, Dr. A. W. Matthews, presented Bob Gray with the Rivermead cup, award for the Canadian turning in the lowest card in the Canadian Open. "Whit" Matthews is shown on the left giving Gray the cup and cheque for $200 that goes with it. Dr. Matthews is doing special research work at an American university during the summer and made a trip to Toronto for the Open. He is an executive officer of the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Looking them Over

SOME belated attention has finally been given the hockey situation in Edmonton. Last night Alderman D. K. Knott moved at city council meeting that a survey be made and a report be brought in on what might be done for junior hockey here this winter. He pointed out that the fine showing Edmonton junior clubs have made in the past in Dominion playdowns warrants the city doing whatever it possibly can for them now that the Arena has been taken over by the air force.

There is no satisfactory solution in sight for hockey here this winter. Open air rinks are no good. Fans will not attend games under such conditions and attendance comparable to previous seasons at the Arena must be had if the cost of operating a club is to be met. This cost includes the operation of juvenile and midget feeder teams.

There is no building in the city suitable for turning into even a temporary rink.

Only one possible solution presents itself. A covered rink will have to be built at a convenient uptown location. Two or three sites are available. The city's artificial ice plant could be moved in and all playoffs handled. Such a rink would have to be of frame construction on account of the steel shortage. Maximum truss span possible with wood is 128 feet. This limits the rink to a maximum seating capacity of 3,500 if a full sized ice sheet is put in. Standing room for an additional 1,000 would be there.

Total cost of this structure would be in the neighborhood of $55,000. This sum would provide heating, lavatories, showers, lighting and a stucco finish on the outside. When restrictions on the use of steel are lifted, this arena could be enlarged considerably. It would last a minimum of 20 years.

Such an arena offers a fine investment for private capital—but try to interest any these days. Everybody seems to have too many luscious investment possibilities in his own line of business.

The other alternative is for the city to build the thing. If the cost were spread over the customary 20 years in civic financing, it would easily pay for itself and never add even a fraction of a mill to present taxes.

It seems to be entirely up to Edmontonians—especially property owners—to decide whether hockey dies here for the duration of the war and kids start ganging up on street corners instead of playing the great winter game. Regardless of what you may have heard, there is every reason to believe that Ottawa will grant a permit for the erection of such an arena unless the war demand for lumber becomes much greater than it is at present.

One way of bringing things to a head would be the circulation of a petition among voters and property owners asking the city to undertake the building of such an arena. It is just another one of those things that everybody thinks should be done but no one does anything about.

The Indians Have Wrong Slant

THE trouble with the Cleveland Indians this season as they do their annual floperoo is that they just haven't got what it takes above the ears, according to Clark Griffith in a recent interview.

"Too many Indians have a bad mental attitude," says the old-time pitcher who runs the works in Washington.

"They haven't got a winning slant."

Owner Griffith takes Ray Mack's hitting—or lack of it—into consideration when he brands the right side of the Tribe's infield as weak.

He calls Hal Trosky a fumblebug, with or without a headache.

"I don't care if Trosky hit 1000, a club can't win with a player like him at first base," asserts Griffith.

The Old Fox first leased Zeke Bonura to the Giants and then sold him to the Cubs despite the fact that he couldn't miss batting in 100 or more runs a campaign.

The trouble was that Banana Bonura let in an equal number of runs by giving grounders that should have been fielded the Fascist salute.

CITY NATATORS PERFORM

East End Wins Field Trophy

Jim Billingsley Makes Fast Time

East End Swimming Club captured the Field trophy at the South Side pool on Monday night when their entrants compiled a total of 102 points in the 28 events on the program. The South Side Club took second place with 62 points, while the West End made 52 and Aqua Belles 28.

Jim Billingsley, South Side, equalled the Alberta record for the 100 yards backstroke when he finished in 1 minute, 13 2-5 seconds. Doug. Lemmon, West End star captured two firsts and a second to lead the boys' junior parade and Eleanor Robertson, East End, won a pair of firsts in girls' junior.

Perfect weather conditions and a big crowd greeted the contestants in the annual gala held for possession of the Field trophy and there was plenty of competition in all events excepting in one of the dives.

In winning the 100 yards backstroke Jim Billingsley really had to turn on the power to finish ahead of Doug. Lemmon. He won out by a couple of yards with Bonnie Jackson in third place.

LEMMON BIG WINNER

Doug. Lemmon put in quite a satisfactory evening's work. He won both breast and backstroke 50 yards and was second in the free style 220. In addition he placed second in the men's 100 yard backstroke.

Bruce Hembling of the South Side Club won a first and a second and Bob Matheson of the West End also copped one event and a second. Jack Flavin made a second and third.

Best points winner amongst the junior girls was Eleanor Robertson. She took a pair of firsts and a third, in addition to being on the winning ladies' relay team.

Beryl Swingle, West End won a first, a second and was a member of the junior relay winners. Margaret Latimer, East End had a first and second and was the ladies' relay winner.

RELAYS GOOD

Two of the best events of the night were the junior relays. The boys' race was exceptionally close with the West Enders looking like winners until the final few yards of the last lap when Bruce Hembling for the South Side by an extra spurt barely managed to beat out Doug. Lemmon.

The junior girls' relay was just as close with the Aqua Belles overcoming the East End in the last few yards of the final lap.

F. N. Lett acted as official referee for the gala, while the judges were J. V. Edwards, Howard Byers and J. V. Edwards, Jr. Timekeepers were Barney Morrison, Bill Carleton and Art Methuen. Roy Haliburton did the starting.

Judges for the diving were Mrs. Phylis Ross, Louise McTavish and Don McTavish and the official scorers were Dorothy Edwards and Ruth Lett.

RESULTS:

Men's 100 yards, breast stroke—1, Charlie Field, W.E.; 2, Bonnie Jackson, E.E.; 3, Bruce Eby, W.E. Time 1:20.

Junior boys, 50-yds. back stroke—1 Eleanor Robertson, E.E.; 2, Beryl Swingle, A.S.; 3, Katherine Elliott, E.E. Time 39.5.

Junior boys, 220-yds. free style—1 Bruce Hembling, SS.; 2, Doug Lemmon, W.E.; 3, Max Smith, S.S. Time 2.32-5.

Ladies' 100 yds. breast stroke—1, Alice Stewart-Irvine, E.S.; 2, Pat Patterson, E.E. Time 1.32-5.

Junior girls, 12 and 14, 100 yds. free style—1, Boy Keen, E.E.; 2, Russell Aird, W.E.; 3, Bob Hatch, S.S.

Girls 12 and under, 50 yds. free style—1, Doris Elliott, E.E.; 2, Daria Shoemaker, S.S.; 3, Mary Hann, W.E. Time 47 sec.

Boys 12 and under, 50 yds. free style—1, Geo. Devon, E.E.; 2, Bobby Leah, S.S.; 3, Alan Lister, W.E.

Cadomin Defeats Luscar Lookouts By Score Of 8-7

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LUSCAR, Aug. 12 — Cadomin Bisons hung up another win in the Coal Branch Baseball League on Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Luscar Lookouts by a score of 8-7.

Chapman who started on the mound for the visitors pitched a steady game but was given poor support. He was relieved by Sampson at the end of the fifth inning who finished the game.

Petruk also pitched good ball after the early part of the game when the visitors' bunched hits coupled with errors to take an early lead.

Cadomin tallied one run in the first, three in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth and ended with a tally in the seventh.

Luscar did not open their scoring until the third when they tallied a single run. In the fourth six runs were scored in a big rally. This ended their scoring of the game.

For the visitors Stene with a triple and two singles was leading hitter. Logan also collected a brace of hits for Cadomin. Bonner with two hits, Bartoff and D. Giovanazzo did the hitting for Luscar.

Lineups:

Cadomin—Stene 2b, Deitz 3b, Gerlitz cf, Dotto 1b, Logan rf, Chesney lf, Jones ss, Chapman p, Sampson p, Nowicki c, McKenna c.

Luscar—Small 1b, Bonner ss, Bartoff cf, D. Giovanazzo rf, Morris 2b, Petruk p, J. Giovanazzo c, Bentley c, McAuley 3b, Brooks lf.

Umpire—Roy Carr of Cadomin.

Lost Two In 8,000 Games Of Checkers

BALRADAM, Scotland, Aug. 12. —(CP)—Robert Stewart, 66, British checkers champion and reputed world record holder, died at his home here Monday.

He is said to have lost only two out of 8,000 games, one during a series in which he won the United States championship in 1922 by defeating Newell Banks. He won the British championship so often he retired for want of competition.

Taxidermist Gets Twosome

This is way Al Pearce felt after landing 308-pound marlin off Coronado, across way from San Diego, Calif. Pearce battled catch for 5 hours and 25 minutes. Side attraction was a tussle with two killer whales, which slashed at marlin as Pearce reeled. P.S.—Pearce recovered.

Nova Promises To Take Fight To Joe From Start

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Lou Nova came out from behind the weed patch he'd grown on his chin in the Maine woods, and announced himself ready Monday to deliver his message.

This, he said, was that you can bet Lou Nova won't be thinking of defence complexes like the other challengers when he says howdy to Joe Louis in the Yankee Stadium's ring the night of Sept. 19.

BEARD COMES OFF

"Now that I've shaved my beard off," he explained over the telephone, "it won't get in my way when I talk. And I want you to understand this before I get to town tomorrow: All the other guys who met Louis were thinking of defence first. Conn believed his speed could do it; Godoy, Galento and some of those others had an idea their awkward styles would keep them out of trouble. You know what happened to them.

"Well, little Louie is thinking only of offence. I'm going to walk right into Louis and beat him by punching him."

This was a new dish, since charging into the Bomber and whanging away with him has, up to now, been considered only one step worse than playing pat-a-cake with a flamethrower.

JUST AS DEADLY.

"I was no more serious the night I proposed to my wife than I am right now," he countered. "I'm one fighter who won't change his style for Louis or any other fighter. I respect his punching power. But I can hit pretty good myself. Let me tell you, it isn't nearly the killer with one punch that Max Baer was. Maybe you remember I took Max's Sunday Punch for two fights and stopped him.

"Confidentially, I figure I can beat Louis to the punch, and when I do—it's all, brother."

The confidence of the determined young man from California has had one effect on the fight. The betting boys have shifted the price down to 1 to 3 in the Bomber's favor, and only two weeks ago you could have had 5 to 1 on Lou's chances.

Amateurs Get 12 Hits Off Dizzy

LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 12— (AP)—Dizzy Dean, once a great pitcher, was touched for 10 hits and four runs Sunday in four innings of an exhibition game against an amateur team of Wisconsin-Minnesota baseball league all-stars.

Dean started on the mound for the La Crosse team of the Wisconsin State Pro League. La Crosse lost 7-6. Dean was not the losing hurler.

Mrs. Mars Still Buying Yearlings At Saratoga Sale

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—Another large crowd filled the sales ring Monday night to bid on yearlings from Walter J. Salmon's Mereworth Farm at Lexington, Ky., but the prices that 46 future racers brought were only fair.

The consignment brought a total of $86,100 for an average of $1,794 a head. The sixth sales of the series increased the total so far to $651,950, an average of $2,076 for 314 head.

A couple of enthusiastic bidding duels developed, with Mrs. E. Nel V. Mars of Chicago, a prominent buyer at the yearling auctions for several years, figuring in both.

T. B. "Doc" Jones finally outbid Mrs. Mars when he went to $7,000 for a black filly by imp. Bickleaf—saying. The mistress of Milky Way Farms paid the second highest price, however, $5,000 for a bay colt by Ariel-Stumble.

Edmonton Carries Off Dominion Pistol Honors

Add the name of Andy Lucas to the list of Edmontonians who have won provincial and dominion honors in the sport world. Word has just come through that Lucas has won the Alberta and dominion aggregate awards in the spring matches of the Canadian Pistol and Revolver Association.

In taking these honors, the Edmonton gun thrower had one first, two second and a third in the four regulation shoots.

It was just two years ago that Lucas got in touch with Sgt. Andy Ford of the R.C.M.P., Edmonton, provincial vice-president of the Canadian Pistol and Revolver Association, and began target practice under his instruction.

The sort of student that Andy Lucas turned out to be is shown by the fact that his aggregate of 1112 points is just two points under the aggregate scored by his instructor in winning the dominion aggregate last year.

The dominion matches call for 30 shots at 50 yards with a revolver, 30 shots at 50 yards with pistol, bursts of five shots at 50 yards in 20 seconds, two strings of five in 10 seconds, five targets at 20 yards, six shots on each target in 20 seconds.

Best In Canada

Shown above is Andy Lucas of Edmonton, who has just carried off high aggregate honors for Alberta and the Dominion in the annual matches of the Canadian Pistol and Revolver Association. He has been shooting only two years under the coaching of Sgt. Andy Ford of the R. C. M. P. here—himself Dominion aggregate winner in 1940. Lucas is shown with his favorite revolver and some of the awards he has won.

Leafs Shut Out Canadians 14-0 Softball Playoff

Maple Leafs swamped Canadians 14-0 at Kingsway Park on Monday night in a Junior Men's Softball League and won the right to meet the survivor of the Podersky Furniture-E.A.C. encounter next Sunday for the city title.

Alex McGregor allowed only three hits, all of which were singles; and he struck out four and gave up a pair of walks.

Jim Malone was top hitter for the evening with three bingles including two doubles out of four trips to the plate. He batted in a trio of runs. Hans Hofstetter had two for four, the same as Alex Harris and Nick Trook.

Every Leaf scored at least one run and only three of them failed to reach the initial station.

Retains Title

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 12—(AP) —Paul Herrick, 171½, of Portland, successfully defended his New England bantamweight title Monday night with an unanimous 10-round decision over Eddie De Angelis, 119, of Revere, Mass.

Fireworks Are Due

Junior Playoffs Tonight

Tonight brings the first offering of playoff baseball at Renfrew Park this season when the Canadians and Singer Clothiers of the Edmonton Junior Baseball League meet in a special game to decide which club finishes the season in top place.

Both of these clubs have seven wins and two losses and are accordingly tied for the league lead. The position gives a bye into the championship final while the second and third place teams have to play a best of three series.

The bye is enough to send both teams into tonight's game ready to shoot the works, but additional fire is added by the fact that the rivalry has been particularly keen between the Clothiers and Canadians—both on and off the diamond.

It is a game in which fur and fireworks are likely to start flying at a moment's notice.

Coach Dick Speer of the Canadians will in all probability start Emberg on the mound tonight with Nordstrom in reserve if anything goes haywire.

DARRAH LIKELY

Coach Saul Ornest of the Clothiers has not announced his pitching selection, but the odds are that it will be Doug Darrah, the youngster who has mowed down batters like a machine gun in each of his appearances this season.

Starting time for the game is 6:15 p.m. Shortening days have forced an earlier start in order to get in nine innings.

Following this sudden death game, the Maple Leafs and the losers of tonight's clash will start their semi-final series Friday evening at Renfrew Park.

National League

BROOKLYN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—With Kirby Higbe at the helm, Brooklyn Dodgers sailed triumphantly to a 15-7 conquest of New York Giants Monday and held their slim National league lead.

In acquiring his 16th victory Higbe pitched seventh ball, keeping the game straight as long as there was any semblance of a contest and contributed a double and three singles to Brooklyn's offensive.

Only three games scheduled.

American League

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The hustling Boston Red Sox battered New York Yankees Monday 8-5 but got a scare when Dominic DiMaggio was beaned on the back of the head in the ninth inning.

The young center fielder apparently was not seriously hurt.

After the game his more famous brother, Joe of the Yankees, drove him to hospital for an X-ray examination, but officials of the Boston Club said this was just a precaution.

Harness Racing Springfield Fair

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—Five days of Grand Circuit harness racing began at the Illinois fair grounds mile track Monday, with Punchinella, a brown stallion owned by the Thro Brothers of Monkato, Minn., taking all three heats and the winner's share of the $1,000 purse in the featured 2:24 pace.

Two juvenile events, the Illinois Breeders' Futurities for two-year-old pacers and trotters, shared prominence on the inaugural program. Balbo Siskiyou, brown colt owned and driven by Charles Rumley, Jr., of Princeton, Ill., won the pace in straight heats, the first in 2:014, fastest mark of the day. Rich Spencer, bay filly from the Midwest Stables, Duquoin, Ill., won her unbeaten record intact with a straight-heat victory in the two-year-old trot.

Cards Prepare

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12—(AP)—The Cardinals moved Monday to strengthen their infield for the National League pennant drive, trading freshman Steve Mesner to their Rochester farm club for Floyd Young. Mesner has played infrequently. Young was with Pittsburgh from 1938 to 1940.

Frisch Soaks Sore Foot While He Blasts Batters

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12—(AP)—Both the heat and Frank Frisch's words melted the ice in the bucket in which he was soaking an injured foot.

"How do I feel? How do you expect me to feel? I've got a bum foot, the Pirates are shut out in Chicago and we lost two here," he fumed.

Reminded that his club had come from nowhere in the past month to make it almost a three-team race with St. Louis and Brooklyn for the National League lead, Frank admitted reluctantly that all things were not bad.

AMEND BOX SCORES

But before he started to praise Al Lopez, Pittsburgh catcher, for being one of the vital factors in the Pirate drive he snapped: "Why don't you guys put another column in the box scores showing how many runners a belter leaves on the bases? You praise a batsman for knocking in 100. If you checked the figures you would find that some of the better ones left 200 stranded."

Frisch and his coaches credit Lopez with stabilizing and making winners of pitchers Max Butcher, Truett Sewell, Ken Heintzelman and John Lanning "and every time we use Lloyd Dietz he has done swell too."

MARKING TIME

Frisch, whose team doesn't have another chance to cut down the Card and Dodger lead until Wednesday night, was bathing a swollen foot injured in his playing days and which recently was bruised.

The pain kept him in the dugout throughout the Card series but he tossed playing equipment and towels on to the field at intervals to keep the umpires informed of his presence and displeasure.

He figures the Pirates have a chance for the National League pennant but admits the job will be a tough one.

Golfers At Last May Dodge Death

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(BUP)—The bet was made last New Year's eve and, fortunately, was written down on a menu in a cafe where your agent had repaired to eat a vegetable dinner and discuss renaissance art while the old year sighed and died.

The menu was extracted from the files today and it read: "John Armstrong bets Harry Ferguson $5 to $5 that during the calendar year 1941 the United States Golf Association shall not promulgate any rule or decision that makes sense. In the case the bettors are unable to agree on whether a rule makes sense, the question shall be referred to a neutral party."

Time has dimmed the memory of that evening, but it seems that I wagered $5 that the U.S.G.A. sometime during the year would come through with a reasonable and sensible rule. I must have been flushed with a Sweet Caporal spirit that evening, or I never would have made such a rash bet. Nothing in the past performance of the U.S.G.A. would indicate that I had a chance to win.

Well, today I collected the $8.

SAVE LINKS WITHOUT PENALTY

The U.S.G.A., reversing the field neatly, has ruled that hereafter if lightning starts flashing across a golf course during a tournament, the players can save their lives by taking shelter. They don't even have to ask permission of the U.S. G.A. either, to save their lives.

Heretofore the rule had been that if lightning starts playing around the steel shafts of the clubs, a contestant should just brush it aside and concentrate on smacking a No. 8 iron to the green. Only when he heard a siren blow could he seek shelter, and if he tried to get away from the lightning before the U.S.G.A. told him to, he was out of the tournament.

Mr Armstrong said flatly that he didn't believe it when he was informed that a new rule had been handed down. On being shown the official announcement from the U.S.G.A., he readily agreed to pay the bet. Mr. Armstrong, a lawyer by trade, has been collecting the decisions of the U.S.G.A. for years and laughing his head off over them.

FLOOD BROUGHT IT

There is a suspicion abroad that the newest U.S.G.A. ruling is a result of the day of the great flood in this year's National Open championship at Fort Worth.

Your agent is one of the survivors of that ordeal and he can testify that the elements really wound up and let the human beings have it. It rained two ways—horizontal and vertical. Thunder rolled and shook the pro tent, lightning raced over the golf course like women on their way to a silk stocking sale.

No one could understand why the U.S.G.A. didn't halt the tournament. One official was asked about it and his classic reply was: "Oh, they never halt them on the other side, you know."

DEMART SCRAMBLED

He meant England. That reason was not sufficient for Jimmy Demaret, the well-known professional, who decided he ranked his life more than he did the U.S. Open title, so he ran for shelter and withdrew from the tournament. Plenty of others felt like doing the same thing.

There is no indication that this trend of rational decisions by the U.S.G.A. will continue. In fact, in winning the wager, your agent had the surprised feeling of a man who hit the Irish sweepstakes — it's something that occurs once in a lifetime.

That's Frankie Frisch above and he was in a growling mood yesterday when he declared that box scores should carry an extra column showing the number of runners each batter left stranded on bases by failing to hit in the pinches.

Famous Hockey Right-Winger Dies

MONTREAL, Aug. 12—(CP)—Charles Albert Liffiton, 63, an outstanding hockey star in the days of seven-man teams and no forward passing, died here Monday.

Liffiton performed with Montreal's Little Men of Iron, Stanley Cup winners in 1902, and later with the Wanderers. He was a right-winger.

Sports .... Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins Hockey Club may be sold before the end of this month . . . Neil Beardmen, a music professor at the U. of South Dakota, brought three pacers 2,000 miles to race at Roosevelt raceway . . . from down beats to hoof beats, eh? . . . The Eddie Blunt-Bill Poland fight at Washington, Aug. 27, is the longest scheduled heavyweight fight in two decades . . . it's scheduled for 25 rounds, and the worst part is it might even last that long. . . . Here's one (and only one) time the Phillies are first: Danny Litwhiler was the season's first National Leaguer to hit a home run in every park in the circuit.

San Antonio baseball writers, who were a bit disgruntled that their club didn't get more help from the St. Looey Browns, have learned why: . . . When Carnegie, Mo., the Browns' other farm, wired: "We need two pitchers, two infielders, two outfielders," back came another wire: "So do we."

Today's guest star:

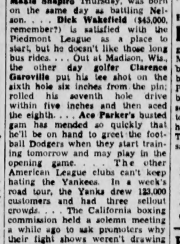

Jack Carberry, Denver Post: "Cards or Dodgers, Dodgers or Cards — either should be the Yankees' oyster. And October has an 'R' in it."

The Bobets Field fight press department reports that Lee Rodak, who subs for Tippy Larkin against Malo Shapiro Thursday, was born on the same day as battling Nelson. . . . Dick Wakefield ($45,000, remember?) is satisfied with the Piedmont League as a place to start, but he doesn't like those long bus rides. . . . Out at Madison, Wis., the other day golfer Clarence Garoville put his tee shot on the 445th hole six inches from the pin, rolled his seventh hole drive within five inches and then aced the eighth. . . . Ace Parker's busted gam has mended so quickly that he'll be on hand to greet the football Eagles when they start training tomorrow and may play in the opening game. . . . The other American League clubs can't keep hating the Yankees. In a week's road tour, the Yanks drew 123,000 customers and five times sellout crowds. . . . The California boxing commission held a solemn meeting a while ago to ask promoters why their halls weren't drawing better. . . . Mike Jacobs will ask $30, for ringside seats for Louis-Nova. . . . That's the highest price since the Baer-Louis affair, which wasn't worth it either.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

Bridge Week in California this year started in San Francisco. The second half of the tournament was played in Los Angeles. With two or three days to spare between scheduled matches, Mrs. McKenney, Waldemar von Zedtwitz and I drove with him through Yosemite Park to Los Angeles. Howard is vice-president of the Contract Bridge League.

Opening—♣Q 13

After seeing the spectacular Fire Falls in Yosemite we dropped in to the recreation center. Waldemar von Zedtwitz and I kibitzed four youngsters and saw them play today's hand. After the play, we introduced ourselves and learned that the players were Ethel Seeberg and Mrs. Harold Holroyd of Oakland and Alphaid Gaw and Marion Hvidt of Berkeley.

I thought Miss Seeberg, the declarer, handled the play of the hand in fine style when she cross-ruffed it out to make her contract.

Dummy won the opening lead with the ace and cashed the club king. Noth dispelling a heart then ruffing the third club. A return lead to the ace of hearts was followed by a heart ruff.

North cashed the ace of diamonds and led another for dummy to ruff, returning with another heart ruff to lead a third diamond. East played the six of spades to force dummy's ten, but a fourth lead let declarer make her king of trumps for the tenth trick.

Ambulances Are Driven To Canada For Use Overseas

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(CP)—Nine ambulances destined for duty with the Canadian division of the British-American Ambulance corps, and driven by 12 members of the Women's Voluntary Services, left for Ottawa Monday.

The units, equipped with the latest type stretcher and first aid devices, will be sent to Britain to serve with the Royal Air Force.

Praise Mamma DiMaggio For Success of Sons

If baseball ever has a Mother's Day, I want to sit around somewhere close to Mamma DiMaggio, and I'd like to tell her that we've had a lot of her three sons here on the Hub of the Universe, and that they're fine, clean boys, a credit to her and a vindication of her judgment. I don't have to tell her how they're doing professionally, for I imagine she knows.

The story of the DiMaggio boys, baseball's premier family, as I got the tale in fond reminiscence once from one of the members, is really a tribute to the sympathy, the understanding, even the collusion of the mother. It is the typical, standard and familiar scenario of the clash of New World freedom for the kids with Old Country tradition in the parents—a situation that has puzzled, and sometimes split, many immigrant families.

Papa DiMaggio came over from Italy first and alone. He worked hard, and as a laborer, moving even further west as the railroads worked west, for that was his job. He actually helped build them with his strong and willing hands. But finally he'd gone so far west that he'd struck the other sea. He had come from a fishing village in Italy. The sea was really in his blood. The fishing looked familiar.

That became his business. First he worked for other men. But he was a saving man. In time he had his own boat. Then he had other boats. Hard work and the teeming Pacific made him reasonably prosperous as commercial fishermen go.

HELPERS FOR FISHING

In ONG since, with his first savings, he had sent back to Italy for the girl who was waiting. That was Mamma. And long since, they had been married and the little bambinos had started to come along. Papa was a happy man. He was a blest man, for there were strong sons in his progeny, four of them, to be exact. That meant four strong helpers to haul nets and steer boats. That was what a man needed. The saints had been kind.

But there was this silly thing, suddenly, what did they call it, bis-ball? His kids didn't show the proper interest in nets and boats and crabs and abalone. They got out on vacant lots with other young loafers and played this stupid business that didn't make sense. Furthermore, it was not only silly, it was positively damaging. They came in with their clothes torn, their shoes scuffed, sometimes with their knees and elbows skinned.

Not only that, but they actually wanted money to buy funny looking gloves, and a wooden club and balls covered with white leather that cost $1.25.

Papa put his foot down—and it was a No. 13-E. He even threw the gloves in the ash can and made speeches about loafers.

It was Mama, in her cute and quiet way, who aided and abetted the boys. Many a Mamma—God bless em, and help 'em—has and does. She soothed Papa with sweet language and praised him completely but when he had stormed out she rescued the gloves from the ash can, and slipped the kids out the side door, telling them for goodness sake to be careful, or they'd all be in hot water.

IT ALL WORKED OUT

THAT'S the way it always went, one of her stalwart sons told me with a grin. The oldest son stayed with the boats and helped pull the nets. The others went on to become the most famous baseball players in baseball—Joe, Vincent and Dom DiMaggio.

Of course, it all worked out the way it should, even in a story book. Papa remained a complete iconoclast on this baseball business until the salary cheques started rolling in. Gradually he was forced to admit that the financial return from this loafers business made the fishing profession look like small potatoes.

Eventually the boys' baseball earnings were transmogrified into the famous San Francisco restaurant, specializing in sea food, bearing Joe's name, but providing off-season employment and future dividends for them all. Papa was converted. He became one of the nation's great baseball fans.

But best of all, the baseballing DiMaggios are as perfect gentlemen off the field as they are great performers on it. Mama did a perfect job with their characters as well as their careers.

And there was this silly thing, suddenly, what did they call it, bis-ball? His kids didn't show the proper interest in nets and boats and crabs and abalone. They got out on vacant lots with other young loafers and played

Bombing Attacks Of Axis Fail To Bother Garrison

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP)—An unidentified captain, member of the allied garrison holding the Libyan port of Tobruk against Axis forces, recently told of the ineffectiveness of a British-broadcasting. The British Broadcasting Corporation reported Monday night.

"I have had one hundreds of raids," the B.B.C. quoted him as saying, "and they really don't bother you—though our Axis friends seem to think that our nerves are shaken."

He described the rain of bombs from a Stuka plane as "a lot of nothing but bangs which do nothing but bury themselves in the sand," the B.B.C. said.

Barrister Passes

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Sir Reginald Poole, 76, a distinguished member of the bar who specialized in divorce cases and was reputed to know more about the secrets of London society folk than any other single person in Britain, died here Monday.

Extend Rent Control

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The Victoria rent control area Monday was extended by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to include the adjoining district known as North Saanich.

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REPORT

Report from the Edmonton stockyards for week ending August 9:

Receipts:	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Today	127	23	132	88
Week	1684	456	1772	611

The market was active and firm on good butcher cattle throughout the week. The bulk of the receipts, however, consisted largely of in-between kinds and they were not so readily disposed of as butchers. Farmers would be well advised to hold thin plain cattle and finish them. An increase in receipts of these ordinary kinds will no doubt depress prices. Good butcher steers topped at $8¾, bulk from $8¼ to $8½. A few good grass steers sold at $8½. Practical top on heifers $8. Cows held steady with good lights selling from $6 to $6½, heavy fat cows mostly $5½ to $6. Bulls were lower for the week with good, heavy bulls topping $6½ and light $6. The following are the quotations: Good to choice fed calves $8½ to $9; good to choice butcher steers, $8¼ to $8¾, fair to medium, $7¼ to $8, common to fair $4½ to $7¼; good to choice heifers $7¾ to $8¼, fair to medium $5½ to $7½, common to fair $4½ to $6½; good cows $5½ to $6½, common to medium $3½ to $5¼; canners and cutters, $2½ to $3¼; bulls, $4½ to $6½.

Stockers and feeders of good quality in fair demand, but the plain kinds slow to move. Good stocker steers selling from $6½ down, heifers $6 down and cows $4½ down. Short keep feeders from $7½ down.

Hogs steady, with no changes in price. Stockyards basic for coast shipment $13.40. Sows, live weight, declined towards the close to $5 to $6¼ per cwt.; plants, basis $13 to $13.15; A carcasses receiving a premium of $1 each and C 1's discounted $1 each.

Lambs sharply lower for the week, opening at $10¾ for tops and declining to close at $9½ to $9 for good to choice heavy weights. Yearlings $8 down, and ewes $4½ ½down.

Roosevelt Asks For Large Crops

By FRED BAILEY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(BUP)—President Roosevelt urged American farmers today to produce abundant crops because food "is a weapon against Hitlerism just as much as munitions" and an instrument for welding a peaceful world.

"We need not only abundant production for ourselves and for other nations resisting aggression," he said, "but we need reserves to meet emergencies which can as yet be only dimly foreseen."

Mr. Roosevelt said the first task is to "beat down . . . the monstrous forces that Nazism has loosed upon the world" and then to repair the damage done by them. Food will be essential in the process of rebuilding and rehabilitation, he said.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, the president paid tribute to the response of farmers in a crisis.

"When democracy is in danger," he said, "our farmers always have rallied to its defence and they always will. All they ask in return for their increased production is fair prices and assurances of protection after the emergency has passed. I think farmers should have these assurances insofar as we are able to give them."

The letter was in reply to one from Wickard describing agriculture department programs for increased production of pork, dairy and poultry products, tomatoes and other foods needed to make the United States the larder as well as the arsenal of democracy.

Windsors Plan To Pass Through U.S. On Way To Canada

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—The New York Times said today that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor would travel through the United States this autumn on their way to visit the Duke's ranch near High River, Alta.

Although the Windsors have made three trips to Florida since their arrival in the Bahamas a year ago, they have not passed through any other part of the United States.

Essen Seen As "Woeful Picture Of Destruction"

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—An unidentified Russian engineer who visited Essen shortly before Germany invaded Russia Monday described the German industrial centre as a "woeful picture of destruction," the British Broadcasting Corporation reported.

"British bombers appeared methodically over the city and dropped hundreds of bombs," the engineer said.

"Its devastated streets pitted by bombs and whole blocks of houses swept away. Essen presented a woeful picture of destruction."

The engineer said employees in the giant Krupps munitions works are "afraid to speak because informers listen to every word."

Debunker

One of the strange tricks played on us by our minds is the inferiority complex, which, strangely enough, does not bother people who are really inferior. Psychologists have found that people of superior intelligence are most likely to have inferiority complexes, for they are intelligent enough to realize their failings and weak points. Stupid people usually are too dull to wonder about themselves, and thus don't get inferiority complexes. So, if you have one of these haunting complexes, cheer up, you're probably above average.

Cologne Feels Bold Daylight Raid By R.A.F.

RAIDED 100 TIMES

The city, which straddles the Rhine and contains many of the vital industries for which the Rhineland is famed and which are feeding the German war machine, has been raided approximately 100 times by night.

It is the metropolis of the Rhineland and the third largest city in Germany, having a normal population of about 750,000.

The British bombers had to fly over about 150 miles of hostile territory to reach Cologne, which lies about 40 miles inside the German frontier with The Netherlands.

The many-towered city is famous for its great Gothic cathedral and for numerous other buildings dating to the 13th century.

Squadron after squadron of Royal Air Force machines swarmed through the sky at a height of 5,000 feet above the Dover strait. As they moved on toward their objectives the fleet was outlined sharply against masses of clouds.

SEE NO OPPOSITION

Watchers on the English coast saw no signs of opposition. The big bombers flew toward the continent in formation and returned, still in formation, while new units were starting out for the attack.

The raids followed overnight blasting at Northern France and The Netherlands by the R.A.F. and the bombing of targets in Germany by planes of both the R.A.F. and the Russian air force.

Docks at Rotterdam in The Netherlands also were blasted with high explosives.

RUSS BOMB BERLIN

Points in industrial Germany attacked overnight by the R.A.F. were Krefeld, Munchengladbach and Reydt.

(Nazis sources in Berlin admitted today that Russian planes thrust at Berlin overnight but claimed that only two planes reached the capital. Air raid sirens sent citizens scurrying to shelters and the sound of distant gunfire was heard in the heart of the city. It was the fourth Red air raid on the capital.

(The Nazis also admitted that bombers, presumably British, attacked western Germany during the night, dropping bombs on various communities.)

Unemployment Data

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Latest unemployment figures in Britain show a reduction of nearly 25,000 in the number of unemployed in the country, the British Broadcasting Corporation said last night. The figures, issued Monday night, showed 277,380 persons unemployed in July.

Your Figure Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

How flexible are you? That's more important than the date on your birth certificate. The saying that those who bend easily are not so apt to break may be a cliche, but it is also a hard and fast rule for women who want to stay reasonably young.

Can you bend your little finger back almost to your wrist, go into a deep-knee bend, bend forward and touch your fingers to your toes, and bend sideward with hands on hips until the point of the elbow is in line with your waistline?

You should be flexible enough to do all these bends easily. If not, a little practice should put you into shape so that you can. But take it easy. Don't strain—you might injure yourself.

That five-finger exercise is a good one. Take each finger and pull it gently. Then bend each finger backward as far as you find it comfortable—no more. And finally place the closed fingers of the hand against the closed fingers of the other and bend first one hand and then the other backward. This is a very small thing to do for your hands and it will keep them flexible.

When you go into the deep-knee bend, stand with feet parallel and keep heels on floor, trunk absolutely straight. Only bend so far as you are able to keep your heels on the floor, trunk straight. The knee bend is a very good exercise and you might make a game of it. Every time you have to pick up something from the floor, try it. See how flexible you are.

In bending forward to touch fingers to toes, the important points are to pull up with the lower abdominal muscles and keep the hips tucked under, and not just touching the toes! Put your mind to it. First stretch up with arms overhead but with most of the stretch between hips and ribs. Then, continuing this upstretch through the midriff, very slowly bend forward. If you can get halfway down and you do it correctly, you are doing well.

Use similar tactics when you bend sideward. Your hands should be on your hips with elbows straight out at the sides and you should be stretched slim through the midriff, with stomach muscles pulled up and your gluteus maximus muscles on the backs of the hips contracted. As you bend sideward, hold your body in line, with knees straight, midsection pulled up slim.

Well, there are your flexibility tests. If you can pass them, the chances are you look younger than you are and if you can't you probably look older than necessary. At any rate, there's an easy exercise program for you.

"WELCOME" STICKERS FOR CARS

Edmonton Will Be Friendly City For All Visitors

Traffic Police Asked To Show Latitude When Tourists Make Mistakes

Edmonton is again to become the "friendly city" to tourists and out-of-town residents. City council, Monday, at its regular meeting authorized the city commissioners to proceed with the preparation of a sticker which would be placed in automobiles of all tourists. This sticker would welcome them to the city and indicate appreciation of their visit. It would be in line with practice now carried out in many cities in Canada and the United States.

It was suggested also that some latitude might be given the police department in dealing with out-of-town motorists tagged for exceeding the parking bylaw provisions.

The suggestion put forward was that the police department could forego the usual fine for overparking, on production by the offending visiting motorist of proof that his address is outside the city.

It would be understood that if any out-of-town visitor appeared several times before the department for violations of the parking bylaw that this courtesy would not be extended indefinitely.

Several complaints have been received from out-of-town motorists concerning the stringency of the parking bylaw enforcement. One complaint came from a High Prairie resident who enclosed the receipt for payment of a dollar fine imposed in Edmonton and a welcome card received in Calgary, with the remark that he had violated the parking bylaw regulations because a medical examination for admittance to the Royal Canadian Air Force had taken longer than he anticipated.

Authorization was given to the city engineer's department to proceed with local improvements up to the extent of the 1941 appropriation. Projects totalling approximately $7,236 are listed on the schedule, but it is probable that only one project, the grading of 80 avenue from 100 street to the lane west of 100 street, will be proceeded with this year.

RESOLUTION ENDORSED

Endorsation was given to resolutions passed by the Jasper Park Chamber of Commerce dealing with the attracting of tourists to the northern mountain resort.

The resolutions include the provision of better lighting in Jasper Park; the erection of a suitable gate and office at the south entrance to Jasper National Park; the postponement until October 15 the closing of the bridge over the Athabaska river, and also that a proper rock crusher be purchased to assist in the road-making program in the park.

Edmonton Airman Leaves For East

Sgt. Pilot F. W. Wood, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood, 11731 79 street, left for an eastern station of the R.C.A.F. this week after spending a short leave here with his parents. Sgt. Pilot Wood recently graduated from No. 8 Service Flying Training School, Moncton, after completing instruction at Toronto and Hamilton.

He enlisted last October, after completing his courses at Eastwood high school. He also attended Parkdale school, and was a patrol leader in the St. Faith's Boy Scouts' troop. Sgt. Pilot Wood gained nation-wide publicity last May when he lost his course and landed his R.C.A.F. training plane on an Indian reserve in Niagara county across the United States border. He was released within 24 hours, and flew his plane back to his Canadian base.

Civil Service Salary Survey Will Be Made

Salaries of civil servants will be surveyed in the near future by a special committee appointed for the purpose, it was announced Monday by Hon. Solon E. Low, acting premier and provincial treasurer.

Making his statement, he recalled that at the last session of the legislature, it was announced that the government proposed to review the various civil service salary categories.

He pointed out that this survey had been decided on, even before the Dominion government announcement that a cost-of-living bonus was to be paid Dominion civil servants and to all railway workers.

THE QUESTION

Official views on the situation in the Orient seem to be that Japan is going to strike in concert with her Axis partner Germany. A lot of unofficial views are that Japan is on the spot and frightened to death at the situation she is in. Do you think Japan will risk war with Britain and the United States and possibly Russia, while still involved with China in a very sticky mess?

THE ANSWERS

W. B. PATTERSON, clerk: It's difficult to call the next play in this gigantic game of power politics, but personally I don't think the Japs are quite silly enough to take on the job suggested at the moment. I feel sure she'll at least wait for a very doubtful German victory in the Russian campaign to materialize.

G. JOHNSON, visiting farmer: It seems to me that the Japanese will wait a little longer to see how Boss Adolf fares with Russia before getting tough with Britain and the U.S.A. But we must be ready for anything these days. There's a possibility that the most unlooked for thing will happen.

* * *

W. RICHARDSON, Canadian Motor Machine Gun Brigade, First Great War: It would be right down our alley for the Japs to get tough right now, but I don't think they would dare. They'll likely just keep moving troops here and there to keep the Allies guessing.

Two Win Hudson's Bay Store Awards For Sales

Winners of all-expense trips to Vancouver for being the two outstanding salespeople of the Hudson's Boy Store staff here for the 12-month period ending May 1, Miss Winnifred Templeman and Jack L. Moore were wished "bon voyage" by company officials when they boarded the westbound train at the C.N.R. station Tuesday. Miss Templeman was presented with the company governor's shield to be retained for one year and a small replica for a permanent trophy. Mr. Moore received second honors. Presentation of awards was made by C. Chubb, manager of the Edmonton store, in his office Monday afternoon. In Vancouver, they will be entertained with dinners from other branches of the company. Pictured at the station platform, left to right, are John Ketter, advertising manager; J. McRae, personnel superintendent; Mr. Chubb, Miss Templeman and Mr. Moore.

Air Raid Precaution Squad In Edmonton Is Alderman's Idea

Creation of an air raid precaution squad in Edmonton may follow the suggestion made by Ald. Sidney Parsons at city council's meeting Monday. Ald. Parsons, while not anticipating that Edmonton will be bombed, was of the opinion that a little precaution was worth a considerable amount of afterthought.

He suggested that city commissioners confer with Fire Chief James MacGregor, officers of the Veteran Volunteer Reserve and other authorities with a view to establishing an air raid precaution unit in Edmonton.

SPREAD OF WAR

He called attention to the rapid spread of the war, and the likelihood of its extending to the Pacific coast zone. Ald. Parsons said that while the possibility of air raids being made on Edmonton was remote, there was danger that such raid might be accomplished.

He referred to the type of construction of homes and other buildings in the city, which he said would be easy prey to incendiary bombs. He added that without trained assistance from air raid precaution workers the city fire department might be unable to cope with fires started through enemy action.

Meteor Shower Seen In Night: View Not Clear

Cloudy skies prevented Edmontonians from getting a clear view of the meteor shower known as the "tears of St. Lawrence" Monday night. Before midnight they were visible in the northeast, and after midnight they could be seen directly overhead. But visibility time was early Tuesday, when the orbit of the earth moved closer to the meteor shower.

The mercury jumped to 84 above Monday at 4 p.m., and then dropped to 59 above for the overnight low temperature reading. Average temperature for the day was 65 above, compared with 59 above one year ago.

Forecast for Tuesday and Wednesday reads "not much change in temperature, with probable showers." At 8:30 a.m. Tuesday the thermometer read 70 above, with a barometric pressure of 27.69 increasing.

Overcast skies and smoke were general throughout the near north Tuesday morning.

After attending St. Peter's school he was enrolled as a naval cadet at Osborne in 1916 and was graduated from Dartmouth in April, 1920. A few years later, he was "extremely" popular and was known as "George" or "PG." In the following January he became a midshipman and was appointed to the Iron Duke—Jellicoe's flagship in the Battle of Jutland—and at the time of his appointment flagship of the Mediterranean fleet. Later the Duke served aboard the Queen Elizabeth, head of the class of ships including Warspite, Malaya, Barham and Valiant. Subsequent service took place on a flotilla leader. He was promoted to sub-lieutenant in 1924 and lieutenant in 1926.

From 1925-1929 he served aboard the Hawkins, flagship of the Chinese squadron, then on the Nelson, flagship of the Home Fleet and on the cruiser Durban at the Nore Indies station. In March, 1929, the Duke entered the foreign office with duties directing his attention to western Europe. He was transferred to the home office and thus became the first member of the Royal family to be at the same time, a civil servant. As an inspector in the office he took his work seriously and insisted that any official visits should be kept quiet. In 1934 he was appointed a commander in the Royal Navy.

Recruits From All Parts To Join R.C.A.F.

From Aklavik to San Diego applications are coming in to the Royal Canadian Air Force recruiting centre here in Edmonton. Within the last few days, Fit. Lt. Harry E. Jones, officer commanding the centre, has received applications for enlistment from a Canadian-born man in California, three men at Whitehorse, one at Aklavik, and one at Yellowknife.

The Californian is a well-qualified accountant, while all the northerners "are ready and wanna take a crack at action," according to Flt. Lt. Jones. "The men from the north, particularly, apply for air crew work, which is just what the air force wants," added Flt. Lt. Jones.

This week F/O. Davidson is on a recruiting trip along the Kitscoty-Vermilion line. Response to reported good.

Fusiliers May Be Included In Sixth Division

Strong likelihood of the 1st Battalion Edmonton Fusiliers, (A) CA, being included in the 6th Canadian Division, formation of which was announced last week by Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, was mooted in local military circles Tuesday.

The 1st Bn. Fusiliers was mobilized here last summer under command of Lt. Col. Harcus Strachan V.C., M.C., and after training all winter, left in May for New Westminster.

At present this unit is not brigaded and is known as a "security" unit. Thus, it will be available for inclusion in a larger unit and likely will be placed in the new division.

Another Edmonton unit which it is felt will be included in the new division is the 96th Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, (R) CA, under command of Maj. A. E. Dean.

This is the only Edmonton militia unit which is not represented by an active service counterpart and as it has been announced that all reserve units not having representation will be the next called for mobilization. In view of this it is felt that the 96th Battery will be mobilized when formation of the division is commenced.

Early Missionary's Daughter, Mrs. N. Wood, 84, Dies Here

JOHN OLIVER

THIS city will be en fete and in gala attire Wednesday, as it is being honored with a fleeting, few hours' visit by Air Commodore H.R.H. the Duke of Kent. There is an expectant atmosphere prevailing on all sides. Thousands are anticipating what might prove to be only a glimpse of the distinguished officer wearing his Royal Air Force service uniform. He will receive a warm, cordial welcome from Edmontonians. That is assured. He is no stranger here. Once before, just 14 years ago, he stopped off for a day with his brother, the Duke of Windsor and the then British Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin.

It is not alone because he is the youngest brother of His Majesty King George VI that the Duke of Kent will receive a right royal welcome from the people. It is also because he is tall, blue-eyed, 38 years old and in his own right one of the most popular and most accomplished of the old English gentlemen" one could wish to acclaim. He has "won his spurs" in several fields of endeavor and without his royal background, has been outstandingly successful in each.

Daughter of the late Rev. George McDougall, outstanding pioneer missionary of the west, and member of the first white family to settle in Alberta, Mrs. Nellie Wood, 84, of 10922 79 avenue, died in Edmonton Tuesday. She was the widow of Leslie Wood, who prior to his death some years ago was a prominent Hudson's Bay Company official in the west.

Mrs. Wood was born on April 6, 1857, and come west as a baby with her family. In 1862, from Norway House they transferred to Victoria, near Edmonton. The family brought a carpenter with them and lived in teepees until their log house was built. They came to the west by water, travelling up the North Saskatchewan.

FIRST CHURCH

Later they moved to Edmonton, where Mr. McDougall founded the first church in Edmonton on the present site of McDougall United church at the corner of 101 street and Macdonald Drive.

In 1875, she married Leslie Wood of the Hudson's Bay Company and they lived for a time in Athabasca, later going to High River to open a store travelling by horse and buckboard.

SURVIVORS

Mrs. Wood was the first white woman in Calgary, and the only white woman living there at one time. Later they came to Edmonton, and went again to Athabasca, before finally settling in Edmonton by John McDougall was a brother of Mrs. Wood. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Campbell Young of Edmonton.

Funeral services will be held at McDougall United church Thursday at 3 p.m. and Rev. Fr. S. McCall will officiate. Interment will take place in the Edmonton cemetery. Hinds and McBride are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Duke Will Have Police Escort

Arrangements for policing during the visit of His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent on Wednesday have been completed, it was announced Tuesday by Chief Const. A. G. Shute. A conference has been held, representatives of the city police, R.C.M.P. and R.C.A.F. reaching an agreement as to the requirements.

As the visit is strictly informal, nothing of an elaborate nature is deemed necessary by the way of policing. The Royal visitor will be provided with an escort of motorcycle police, preceding his car wherever he goes in the city, it was stated.

There will be police at the C.N.R. station both at the time of arrival and departure of the special train.

No extra police will be required.

Well, there's a lady named Elizabeth Wood, living at 824 avenue B, north, Saskatoon, who credits the Edmonton police force with being a whole squad of Sherlocks.

Det. William McDonald recently received the following letter from Mrs. Wood:

Jean Stafford, Gordon Burton To Be Married

OCCASIONING the wide interest of friends in social and University of Alberta circles is the engagement announced Monday by Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Stafford, of their younger daughter Miss Catherine Jean Stafford to Mr. Gordon Lloyd Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Burton, of Clareholm. The wedding will take place quietly on September 3.

Both Miss Stafford and Mr. Burton are graduates from the University of Alberta, Miss Stafford with her B. Sc. degree in 1939 and Mr. Burton with his masters degree in political economy in 1940. During her college years Miss Stafford became affiliated with Pi Beta Phi, women's national college fraternity.

Since her graduation from the university Miss Stafford has been secretary in the geology department of the University of Alberta. Mr. Burton has been employed by the Dominion Government in the Agricultural Economics division of the Department of Agriculture.

Following their wedding in early September the couple will leave to take up residence in Ames, Iowa, where Mr. Burton will take three years post graduate work in Agricultural Economics.

On Wednesday, August 27, Mrs. Stafford will entertain at a trousseau reception in honor of her bride-elect daughter.

Settler Girl Is Married In Calgary

An arm bouquet of roses and lily of the valley was in delicate contrast to the gown of filmy white chiffon chosen by Orpha Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bateman, of Stettler, for her marriage in Calgary on Saturday to Mr. Jack Ireton Gow, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Gow, of Calgary. Setting for the ceremony was in Wesley United church, at the mid-afternoon hour of three o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Peacock.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She was a graceful figure in her full-length gown fashioned with sweetheart neckline, girdled waist and full bouffant skirt. Accenting her gown was a tiny quilted jacket of matching material, and a chapel veil of frosted white net, caught in her head with a halo of dainty sweetheart rosebuds, cascaded in soft folds to her waist.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Roy Golding, Edmonton, and Miss Lorraine Bateman, of Edmonton, attended the bride as matron-of-honor and bridesmaid. They were frocked in similar gowns of aloha blue and petal pink French figured voile, respectively. The frocks were designed floor-length, with sweetheart necklines, short puffed sleeves and mandon jacket. Swooping skirts flared from tightly girdled waist bands. On their heads were worn Juliet caps of matching net. Each carried a bouquet of gladioli.

Mr. Bert McNeil, of Calgary, supported the bridegroom as best man. Ushering guests to their pews was Mr. Walter Bulloch, also of Calgary. Soloist was Miss Muriel Niven, cousin of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception to about 60 guests was held at the Empress hotel. Mrs. Bateman received her guests wearing a smartly tailored white suit of lightweight wool. With this she wore white accessories and a shoulder corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Gow chose for her son's wedding a frock of blue flowered sheer, with which she wore a smart blue straw hat and blue accessories. Her corsage was also of American Beauty roses.

BRIDE'S TABLE

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, lighted by the soft glow from tall tapers and made fragrant with bouquets of gladioli and sweetpeas. A toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Peacock.

After the reception, the young couple left on a wedding trip to Banff, the bride changing for an afternoon dress of blue net with which she wore dainty pink accessories and a blue topcoat trimmed with gray rabbit. On return they will take up residence in Calgary.

Miss B. Brown, Lieut. Cautley Are Married

BOUQUETS of sweet peas, gladioli and snapdragons banked the altar at Robertson United church, for a lovely mid-summer wedding on Saturday morning when Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman A. Brown, pledged marriage vows with Lieut. Charles F. Cautley, of the R.C.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Cautley of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. T. Scragg.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a travelling frock of turquoise blue summer weight wool made in redingote style with an under-frock of figured silk to tone. A blue turban, and bouquet of roses and sweet peas completed her ensemble.

Miss Joy Brown, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid in a frock of dusty rose crepe with matching hat. Lieut. Stanley Mooney, of the 19th Alberta Dragoons was best man, and F/O. Jack Dinning was usher. Mr. Delicate supplied wedding music.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception to fifty guests was held in the spacious gardens at the home of the bridegroom's parents, where emerald grass and fragrant summer blossoms formed a delightful setting.

After the ceremony, the bridal couple left on a honeymoon in Banff, prior to taking up residence and station, Mac Lieut. and Mrs. Cautley are expected to arrive back in Edmonton on Tuesday evening, before proceeding to Brandon.

First Lady Of Canada Is Now Commandant

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Her Royal Highness Princess Alice has consented to become honorary air commandant of the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force, the Royal Canadian Air Force announced today.

This follows the Royal precedent set in the British Isles when Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Gloucester became honorary air commandant of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force of the Royal Air Force after which the C.W.A.A.F. is patterned.

"Since Princess Alice has always taken the greatest interest in women's work, the C.W.A.A.F. can feel very fortunate in securing her sympathy and support," an air force official said.

Banff, the honorary air commandant will wear the broad stripes of rank and the gold-braided cap of an air commodore. It is expected several visits will be made to various Royal Canadian Air Force stations which will be partially staffed with air-women.

During the first Great War, the Princess was chairman of the War Pension Committee. She also showed an active interest in the Y.M.C.A. organizations of Berkshire and Buckinghamshire and personally organized and worked in the munition workers' canteens in those counties. She was associated with the Canadian Forestry Corps.

On her return in 1931 from South Africa, where she took an active lead in instituting and organizing a great number of women's activities, Princess Alice became first president, and on the outbreak of war, the commandant of the Women's Transport Service (First Aid Nursing Yeomanry).

British Women Are Praised In Interview

HALIFAX, Aug. 12—(CP)—The women of Britain have been given tremendous scope for their activities since the outbreak of the war, and they are taking it into both hands," Miss Sheila MacDonald said in an interview here today.

Sister of Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, British high commissioner to Canada, Miss MacDonald is a guest here of Rear-Admiral and Mrs. S. S. Bonham-Carter.

"There is such a sense of urgency over there that the women are taking the place of men in every conceivable type of work," said Miss MacDonald. This would strengthen emancipation gained during the First Great War, she prophesied, and result in women taking greater part in public affairs and business

BECOMES HON. AIR COMMANDANT C.W.A.A.F.

Her Royal Highness Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone and wife of the Governor-General, has consented to become Honorary Air Commandant of the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force, it is announced in Ottawa today. Princess Alice has always shown herself sympathetic and very much interested in women's work in war, and is seen here in the uniform of the Women's Transport Service (First Aid Nursing Yeomanry), of which she became commandant in England at the outbreak of the war.

Mrs. Casselman Speaks Monday Post-War Era

DECLARING that the salvation of the world in post-war days would largely depend upon the friendship and co-operation between the United States and the British Empire, Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal M.P. for Edmonton East, speaking to a group of members of the Home Front Guild on Monday evening, urged that individually and as nations, everything be done to eradicate the differences and prejudices between these peoples.

Held at the home of Miss Janet Watson in Belgravia, the meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. J. H. Acheson.

"When the war is over," Mrs. Casselman said, "everything should be done that is possible to be done, to form a workable basis for a united effort for peace and protection between the free nations of the world. She claimed that because both the people of the British Empire and United States are motivated by the same ideals for liberty and freedom of thought and life, they should form the natural leaders of a post-war effort.

In the first part of her address, Mrs. Casselman stressed the fact that this war, a war of aggression, was a struggle between the democratic ideal of freedom and the Nazi ideal of force. These are concepts widely different, geographically, mentally, and spiritually, she said.

"Women as individuals can assist the national effort by rendering aid and comfort to men in the fighting forces and workers in the essential industries by the maintenance of a rigid economy to prevent undue inflation and by spending any extra money in the purchase of war certificates and war bonds.

"By salvage of necessary war materials and the upkeep of personal and national morale, women can also serve," she said.

During the business portion of the evening, letters of acknowledgement were read from nine soldiers who have received gifts of cigarettes from the club. Four soldiers from the district, who are now overseas, were selected on Monday to receive gifts.

Mrs. C. F. A. Clough, 8542 110 avenue, will entertain members at their next meeting on Monday evening, August 25. Mrs. Clough and Mrs. Pratt assisted the hostess with the serving of refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pratt and son Jim will leave on Wednesday to spend a vacation in Vancouver. During their stay in the coast city they will be the guests of Mrs. Pratt's sister, Mrs. Harold Ray.

• • •

Mr. Allen W. Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wellsley Fraser of Edmonton, left for the east on Saturday to train with the R.C.A.F.

Miss Isabel Munroe returned to Edmonton on Saturday from Calgary. She will take up residence in this city.

• • •

Mrs. J. Stewart Anderson and her small son Gerald have come to Edmonton from Calgary. They have joined Mr. Anderson, who has been here for the past month, and will make their home in the city.

• • •

Miss Venie Gray and Miss Rena Clark left on Monday for a vacation trip to the Pacific coast via Jasper, Banff and Spokane. They will accompany Mr. and Mrs. W. Hendrey of Vancouver, who, after visiting in Edmonton for a short time, are returning home.

Wedding Vows Are Pledged At Norwood

The lovely strains of the wedding march filled Norwood United church at the early evening hour of half past eight o'clock on Monday, as Melva Joyce, daughter of Mrs. A. E. Smythe and the late Mr. Smythe of Edmonton approached the altar to become the bride of Stoker E. R. Denholm, R.C.N.V.R., of Winnipeg, only son of Mrs. D. E. Denholm and the late Mr. Denholm of Tinby, Man.

Bouquets of willowy fern and stately gladioli were used in delicate profusion throughout the church and the guest pews were marked with bows of white satin and clusters of pastel toned sweet peas for the occasion.

Rev. Mr. Pickford officiated.

Given in marriage by Mr. M. Engley the bride was charming in an afternoon frock of queen's blue sheer, designed with sweetheart neckline, bracelet-length sleeves, tight bodice and slightly flared skirt. With this she wore cool white accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Marjorie Haugh, who was smart in an afternoon frock of dove rose sheer in floral pattern. Crisp white accessories and a corsage of sweet peas and snap dragons completed her ensemble. Mr Robert Martin officiated as best man.

RECEPTION AT HOME

A reception to the relatives and immediate friends of the bridal couple was held at the home of the bride's mother following the ceremony. Mrs. Smythe received her guests wearing a modish frock of navy sheer accented with touches of pale pink. Her shoulder corsage was of pale pink and talisman roses.

Pale yellow tapers lighted the bride's table which was charmingly graced with bouquets of pale pink roses in silver vases and centred with a wedding cake for the occasion.

At the end of the month, Mrs. Denholm will join her husband in Victoria where they will make their home for the present.

Miss Smellie Begins Western Trip Thursday

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Miss Elizabeth Smellie, matron-in-chief of the Canadian Army Nursing Sisters, will leave Ottawa by plane Thursday morning for Victoria, where she will begin a tour of all military districts in Canada in connection with the organization of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps.

"Miss Smellie will accept no invitations to any social function," the defence department said today. "This is strictly an official tour which she is anxious to complete as soon and as thoroughly as possible.

"This is not a recruiting tour. No women will be interviewed in this sense. The tour deals more with matters of policy so that each district may be given a clear picture of the situation as it exists in Ottawa and how the new corps is understanded here."

The first requisition for 826 women was based on information from military district headquarters who have been asked to state the number of women they could employ. Miss Smellie will further discuss these needs with the district officers commanding.

Is YOUR JOB wearing too?

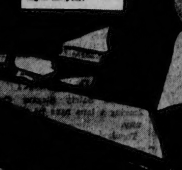

HIS JOB IS MUNITIONS — Whatever your job, there's no need to endure the dull headaches, the listless days which are the symptoms of incomplete elimination. But is the answer "easy does"? No!

SHE RUNS A SWITCHBOARD — Just resolve to get enough "fruit" in your diet to keep food wastes moving. And get this "fruit" in a form you'll really enjoy, so you'll eat it every morning through the year!

HERE'S A TIP FOR TENSE TIMES

These days especially, avoid "blue" spells, headachy feelings. Don't be depressed by incomplete elimination. But, shun harsh cathartics! Instead, follow the lead of happy thousands! Every morning through the year, eat delicious KELLOGG'S BRAN FLAKES with other parts of WHEAT. Gently laxative in a natural way, they help supply valuable minerals and proteins, too. And they taste so downright good you'll gladly make them a daily habit. Order Kellogg's Bran Flakes today. Now in two sizes. In restaurants ask for the individual-wrapped individual package.

"With all these war-time orders, my job is extra tiring. But I keep well! Take my tip! No harsh cathartics! Instead, I eat delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning in the year."

KEEP FIT WITH KELLOGG'S

Kellogg's BRAN FLAKES

Follow these two rules of health:

1. To get well, see your doctor. 2. To keep well, watch your habits. For an alert mind, a healthy body, guard against incomplete elimination. Better eat this crisp, delicious cereal every morning in the year! Ask your grocer for a couple of packages today — and insist on Kellogg's in the golden-yellow package. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Sweet Pickling Does Not Demand Perfect Fruit

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Maybe the cream of the crop is important to a beauty contest judge, but you and other thrifty housewives know that you can save money if you don't use the cream of the fruit crop in making sweet pickles. Margaret Sawyer, noted authority on jam and jelly making, agrees that it's clever to use run-of-the-orchard fruit for that purpose, and dreams up a few spicy sweet teasers designed for just such purposes.

Follow these eight simple rules if you want success. Miss Sawyer advises: Fruit should be well-ripened but not soft-ripened. When preparing whole fruit, match-mates (in size) should be chosen, but your knife can size the fruit when you work with the comparatively inexpensive "run-of-the-orchard" fruits. Discard all bruised and soft spots. Cook more than three or four quarts at a time. Hard fruits should be washed, pared or peeled, cored or sliced, crushed, grated or ground and shredded. Cherries should be pitted before washing. Pick over blackberries before washing and drain well. Stemmed fruits, like grapes, currants and elderberries, should be washed before stems are removed.

SWEET-PICKLED PEACH AND PEAR SLICES
(About 7 half-pint jars)

Six cups (2¾ pounds) prepared peaches, 6 cups (2 pounds) prepared pears, 1 cup water, 6 cups (2 pounds, 10 ounces) sugar, 2 cups cider vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 sticks (4-inch) cinnamon, 1½ teaspoons whole cloves.

Wash and peel about 3½ pounds firm, ripe peaches. Remove pits and cut lengthwise in thin slices. Wash and pare about 3½ pounds firm, ripe pears. Remove cores and cut lengthwise in thin slices. Weigh or measure each into preserving kettle. Add sugar, vinegar, salt, and spices tied in cheesecloth bag. Mix well. Bring to a boil, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly until syrup is thick. Add fruits. Bring slowly to a boil and boil about 15 minutes, or until fruits are clear and syrup is somewhat thick, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Remove spice bag and skim. Pour into clean, hot, sterilized jars and seal at once.

SWEET-PICKLED PLUMS AND WATERMELON RIND
(About 6 half-pint jars)

Four cups (1½ pounds) prepared watermelon rind, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 cups (1¾ pounds) prepared plums, 6 cups (2 pounds, 10 ounces) sugar, ½ cup water, 3 cups cider vinegar, 1½ teaspoons salt, 6 sticks (4-inch) cinnamon, 1 teaspoon whole cloves.

Remove green skin and all pink portion from the rind of firm but not overripe watermelon. Put through foodchopper, using coarse knife. Weigh or measure into kettle and cover with cold water. Add 1 teaspoon salt and let stand overnight. Drain and cover with fresh water. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, about 1 hour, or until tender. Drain. Wash and remove pits from about 2 pounds firm, ripe plums. Cut into quarters, weigh or measure.

Combine sugar, water, vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, and spices in large preserving kettle. Mix well. Bring to a boil, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly about 5 minutes, or until syrup is thick. Add watermelon rind and plums. Bring slowly to a boil and simmer about 20 minutes, or until fruit and rind are clear and syrup is somewhat thick, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Skim. Pour into clean, hot, sterilized jars, dividing spices among jars. Seal at once.

SWEET-PICKLED CRANBERRIES AND PEARS
(About 7 half-pint jars)

Four cups (1 pound) cranberries, 6 cups (2½ pounds) prepared pears, 6 cups (2 pounds, 10 ounces) sugar, 1¼ cups cider vinegar, 2-3 cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 sticks (4-inch) cinnamon, 1½ teaspoons whole cloves.

Pick over and wash cranberries. Weigh or measure. Wash and pare about 4 pounds firm, ripe pears. Remove cores, dice, and weigh or measure. Mix sugar, vinegar, water, salt, and spices tied in cheesecloth bag in large preserving kettle. Bring to a boil, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly until syrup is thick. Add fruits. Bring slowly to a boil and boil about 10 minutes, or until fruits are clear and syrup is somewhat thick, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Remove spice bag and skim. Pour into clean, hot, sterilized jars and seal at once.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas in orange juice, scrambled eggs, wholewheat toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Black bean soup, enriched bread toast, mixed green vegetables salad, nut cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Stuffed veal shoulder, gravy, sweet-pickled cranberries and pear, mashed potatoes, green beans, peach ambrosia, coffee, milk.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

In addition to giving your children the health insurance of a complete physical examination to assure yourself that they are sound of body and keen of vision and hearing—as suggested yesterday—this is a good month to turn your weather eye on the children's wardrobes.

Children grow like weeds during the summer months, and these nice, whole garments which you have had in mind to let her wear in the fall may be hitting your daughter mid-thigh instead of decorously just above the knee. It is wise to put first on your shopping list a piece of stout material for false hems.

Every mother knows that there have to be just so many suits or dresses, handkerchiefs and socks, hair-ribbons, shoes, rubbers, raincoats, underwear, coats and caps—to name them hitter-theliter—in order for every child to be fresh and clean every day.

The time to overhaul these, to count them and put them where they are right under the children's blind eyes, is before school begins. No use to give your one nervous indigestion hunting for a lost rubber on the first rainy day.

And as for underwear, it is always mystifyingly full of holes, minus buttons or gone, just when you want to lay your hands on it the first coolish day. Better to spend a week mending, looking philosophically at the dust meanwhile, than to start off each day on the wrong foot because no one can find the clothes he needs.

When there are several children in the family, it is a wise habit to get them used to seeing their clothes properly marked.

This is a nice duty for mothers and children to perform together. Use name tapes, if you can afford them, otherwise a ball of blue and red and green and yellow marking cotton, and a large needle for ease in threading, will make it possible for each child to make a colored cross-stitch to identify his garments.

No argument then as to whose handkerchief is whose. The mark never lies.

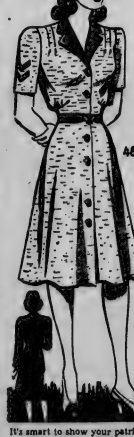

September would be a more pleasant month for mothers and children if all of these tiresome duties were performed well in advance of the day when the serious business of lessons absorbs the children's every thought. Being able to march off properly and neatly attired each morning is one of the satisfactions every child should enjoy.

My leaflet, "Winter and Summer Dress," suggests the usual garments needed in children's wardrobes. You may have it on request if you will send me a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper.

Bulletin Patterns

Patriotic Button-Front Style

It's smart to show your patriotism even in the clothes you wear this season! Take, for instance, Pattern 4866 by Anne Adams. The whole style has trim, military lines, and the patriotic idea may be carried out in national emblems on the belt buckle and buttons, and gay chevrons of braid or ribbon on the sleeves. The smart front opening, together with simple princess seams in back, give slim, vertical lines. The bodice fullness is held in gathers above high, slanting slashes at either side. And the shoulders are darted for smoothness. You might let the belt, notched collar and bands on the optional long sleeves be all in bright contrast. Do order this jaunty style right now!

Pattern 4866 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 4 yards 35-inch fabric and ½ yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Dorothy Dix Says

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young man 22 years old, university educated, but my parents treat me as if I were a baby or a slave or a combination of both. They don't want me to strike out for myself, but to stay at home and run the store for them. However, they refuse to give me a salary or even any allowance. I only have an occasional handout of a dollar or two when they feel like giving me something. They expect me to stay at home every night and every time I leave the house I must tell where I am going, how long I expect to be gone and who I will be with. I once loved a girl and still love her, but they hounded me about her and I quit her. How long should a man stay at home and obey his father and mother as if he were a child? What shall I do? B.C.S.

Dorothy Dix

Answer—I should say that about 15 minutes should be the time-limit on submitting to such tyranny. Make a strike for liberty before your spirit is broken, your initiative destroyed and you have no longer the energy to put up a fight for freedom. Otherwise you are lost. Parents have no more right to enslave their children than a stranger has.

I have known many men who went to work in a loose family business arrangement, and always it ended disastrously for them. Their fathers kept them in a sort of peonage, working for them without pay. The men never could marry because they never had any definite income

It is a great misfortune for a child to have tyrannical parents, because it not only deprives him of all happiness in life, but foredooms him to failure. But there is no way in which a dominating father and mother can be changed. They will always believe that they have a divine right to rule, and the only thing the child can do to save himself is to leave home.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a woman 31 years old and for the last five years have been keeping steady company with a young man of 33. I am tired of waiting on him and I have given him until next Sunday to decide what he is going to do about getting married, as he is in a position to marry if he wants to. I have even offered to continue on with my job, but nothing I do or say seems to bring him any nearer to setting a wedding day. When I ask him if he loves me he answers "yes" and "no." When I ask him if he wan's to marry me he says he doesn't know. Do you think it possible that after five years of steady company a man doesn't know his intentions? BEWILDERED GIRL.

Answer: Oh, I think he knows his intentions, all right, and they are distinctly non-matrimonial. Also his affection for you is of the lukewarm kind that stops short of assuming your board bill and shopping ticket for life.

You were wise to call time on him and you have been foolish to let him monopolize you so long and keep you segregated from the men whose courtship meant a wedding ring. DOROTHY DIX.

B.C. Is Popular With Holiday-Makers

Province Offers Many Joys For Vacationists; Island Holds Interest

Increasingly popular with vacationists, the province of British Columbia provides endless centres of interest to those who wish to find comfort, beauty and a host of sporting activities.

With a coastline of some 700 miles, the province of British Columbia presents cosmopolitan glamor in the great harbor city, Vancouver, where traffic with other world centres is a daily event.

The island, with its capital city, Victoria, lies so far to the south that it actually overlaps the international boundary by some 60 miles. It measures roughly 13,000 square miles and supports a population of around 120,000 people who enjoy delightful scenery, and the finest of hunting and fishing practically at their doors.

The interior of the island is mountainous, with high glaciated peaks, their lower slopes and foothills covered with dense and magnificent trees, and among them a number of lakes that find outlet through swift clear streams where fish abound.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY

The southeastern quarter, and a considerable distance along the eastern coast, is highly developed, richly fertile and beautifully scenic, and it is in that section that the population of the island is chiefly centred.

Victoria is residential rather than industrial, and is a charming place of wide streets laid out in curves and tangents, with odd little quirks and jogs that wedd immensely to their attractiveness, although contrary, perhaps, to modern ideas of city planning.

There is a peculiar charm to a holiday spent on the island, somehow appealing to the spirit of romance cherished by young and old. Cool green forests, crisp sea breezes, magnificent scenery of mountain, lake and stream, provide grand holiday settings. Access is provided for by a regular ferry service from Vancouver, Seattle, Bellingham, Anacortes, and Port Angeles, and the ferries are palatial steamers, big, able and powerful, and with first class accommodation.

Nightmare May Arise From Guilt

What a wild, terrifying place our dream world can be! Pitiless thugs run after us, angry beasts show their teeth—ugh, we'd like to forget it when we wake!

Yet, forgetting it is precisely what we should not do.

Some psychologists say these nightmare images are symbols of our baser instincts struggling to express themselves. By frankly recognizing these feelings, you are better able to cope with them.

The bad man of your nightmare is probably your conscience threatening you for some supposed sin. Of he may be you yourself, clothed in all the horror with which you invest it.

Here are clues to other emotions which may seethe ignored in your subconscious. Dreaming of a sturdy tree implies a longing for sturdiness. An earthquake may be your feeling of insecurity.

Or do you dream of being lost or abandoned, of wearing rags, of flying, climbing?

Our 32-page booklet explains these and many other familiar dreams and dream symbols according to psychoanalysis. Tells how problems of love, sex and ambition appear in dreams. Discusses dreams that "come true."

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "The Meaning of Dreams" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service Bureau, 60 Front street west, Toronto Ontario. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Allow a week or ten days for delivery.

In Memoriam 7

To assist readers in preparing "In Memoriam" notices, the Edmonton Bulletin has prepared a booklet of some very appropriate verses. It is free upon request. Call, write or phone for a copy.

In loving memory of our dear son, Elwood E. Nehr, who passed away August 12, 1927.
"We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away."
—Ever remembered by Mother and Dad.

CENSUS-TAKER MYSTERY NOW IS CLEARED UP

Mystery of a suspected "phoney" census-taker has been cleared up.

A short time ago a city woman informed police that a man came to her home and asked a series of questions. She wondered why.

Tuesday police received a letter from C. J. Everest of Red Deer, which would seem to clear up the matter. Mr. Everest writes that while instructing for the department of education at the summer school here he undertook some work on behalf of the Psychological Institute and Opinion Surveys Ltd. under the direction of Dr. Edmond C. Webster.

Mr. Everest forwarded the survey circular containing questions asked citizens to police. The survey is a scientific one undertaken for the purpose of securing information on a nation-wide scale for business purposes.

Harvesting Help Declared Ample

With cutting now fairly general throughout the province, all demands for harvest help have been met from the available supply of helpers within the province, according to Earl H. Davison, acting superintendent of Alberta Employments Service offices.

Early reports give varying yields in different parts of the province, but indications are that an average of 15 bushels an acre for wheat, can be expected.

So far there has been no heavy demand for harvest help, he said. This demand will increase as the harvesting gears to a climax.

A few men were drifting in from eastern Canadian points, and on the whole the available supply of help was satisfactory at the moment.

Help may be required in the near future, in the Calgary and Lethbridge areas, but there is no immediate danger of a shortage.

Wages being paid this year average about $3 a day for ordinary mowing, $4 a day for tractor men, and $5 for combine men.

Italian Mainland Bombed By British

ROME, Aug. 12. — (BUP) — The Italian high command admits today that British planes have raided the Italian mainland once again.

The command says that yesterday RAF planes bombed Crotone in the province of Calabria at the toe of the Italian boot. Other British planes struck at Catanzaro, 30 miles south of Crotone.

These British raids follow closely sustained attacks on Sicily and Sardinia.

Australia Uses Beaufort Bomber For Defence Line

MELBOURNE, Aug. 12.—(CP Reuters) — Aircraft Production Minister Leckie said Monday that Beaufort torpedo bombers are "definitely to be the first line of Australian defence."

Australia has built up a vital aircraft industry which will greatly influence defence of all Empire countries east of the Suez, he declared.

John Curtin, Labor party leader, said the war is moving closer to Australia.

"It is the duty of every man not fighting or not training to fight, to work. The time has come when Australia asks loyal and devoted service from her sons," he said.

Eyes And Ears Of Canadian Artillery . . . Prize Baby . . . Pleased Populace Shouts Satisfaction

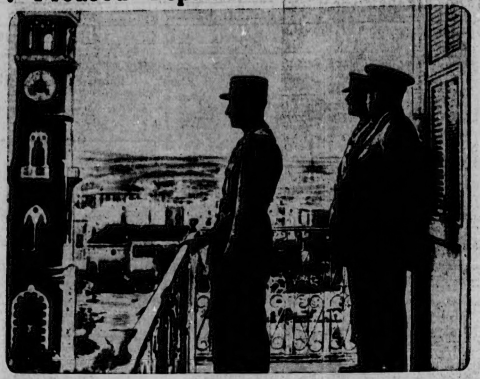

Among the important branches of the army now being recruited is the artillery. The science of modern war has created many specialists in this field. In the photo at left the men of a typical advance observation post are reporting by telephone the location of the hits being scored by a battery in the rear. Nerve centre for these various observation posts and the batteries themselves is the switchboard shown at right. These photographs were taken during exercises at Petawawa, Canada's greatest artillery training camp. —Photos, Director of Public Information.

Syrians were so pleased that the British and Free French had driven the Nazi threat from their country that they milled around government buildings for days cheering and shouting their satisfaction. Leaders of the conquering troops were obliged on several occasions to present themselves on the balcony of the Government House in Beirut and to acknowledge the enthusiasm of the populace. "Hitler is a dead dodo if a ship built like this works as well as the models," declares A. J. Haskins whose 22-ton concrete and steel "Squid" floats like a ship, in Kansas city's Blue river. The "Squid" will be powered by two 250-horsepower Diesel engines which will pump water in at the front and expel it at the rear to give locomotion. Haskins expects 2,000-ton models to do 50 knots per hour and to prove invaluable as blockade runners.

Drum Major — By Vida Hurst

MATHLEEN O'CONNOR, nearing 18, is being forced into a career by her father, MATTHEW, who has trained her as a drum major and entered her in a beauty contest in preliminary for her. Kathleen craves romance and a home. She loves JIMMY CRANE, whom she met after her father brought her to San Francisco to study voice, leaving behind a very special friend, DEAN. Matthew has forbidden Jimmy ever to see Kathleen again, but her AUNT NORA O'CONNOR has promised to try to help her. She invites Jimmy to her house but he declines, saying he has a previous engagement. On the night of the proposed meeting Dean comes to San Francisco and takes Kathleen out. They run into Jimmy with another girl. After that, Kathleen absorbs herself in her voice lessons while her father impatiently waits to get her in the limelight. He arranges to have Kathleen sing for SAMMY MARTIN, a Hollywood song plugger. Impressed by her, Martin asks Kathleen to have dinner with him that evening. Though she goes with him, and several more times, he says nothing about her voice, mentions a screen test. Aunt Nora decides to take things into her own hands. By a

The sight of Jimmy sent Kathleen's spirits soaring. "Hello!" he said casually, but she had seen the relief in his eyes.

ruse she gets Jimmy Crane to her apartment and invites him to come after dinner the next night when Kathleen is to be there. Kathleen is surprised and pleased when Jimmy arrives. Continuing to go out with Sammy Martin to please her father, Kathleen suddenly finds herself named a correspondent in Mrs. Martin's divorce action. By penne, Aunt Nora tells her not to answer the phone or door. Matthew gives an interview to the press and Jimmy fails to show up for his usual meeting with Kathleen at Aunt Nora's. Sammy calls from Hollywood, says he is sorry and tells Matt Kathleen's screen test is all set. Kathleen flatly refuses to go to Hollywood. Next morning she runs away from home and finding Aunt Nora out of the city, rents a room. She gets a job playing and singing popular songs for a music company and is happier than she's been for a long time.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

THE day had begun like any other. Kathleen came to work as usual and had an early lunch, returning to her department at 12.30. Having nothing to do she was sitting at the piano running over one of the new songs when the head of the department said, "Will you wait on this gentleman, Miss Moore? He wants a record."

Turning from the piano Kathleen saw Jimmy Crane. As she looked at him the color left her face. She felt as if her body had turned to paper so that a breath of wind would blow it away.

"What record do you wish?" she asked mechanically.

She saw then that he was just as surprised as she was. His voice shook as he repeated the name of their favorite song.

Kathleen was searching for it now unable to find it although it was plainly visible on the shelf.

"I supposed you'd be in Hollywood by this time," Jimmy said.

"I just don't want to get hurt again," she said weakly.

"I'll be waiting for you at the Post street entrance at a quarter of six," he replied.

UNCONSCIOUS

Kathleen was unconscious for the remainder of the afternoon. She told herself it didn't mean anything. He didn't really care about her. It was just curiosity, that was all. He wanted to know why she was working in the music store.

Then she told herself he might have changed his mind. Maybe when he thought it over he had decided it would be better not to see her. The sight of him eagerly scanning each girl who left the store sent her spirits soaring as no one but Jimmy could.

"Hello!" he said casually but she had seen the relief in his eyes. "Where would you like to go?"

She replied promptly, "To the Shadows."

Instinct made her suggest a familiar environment. Maybe if they went back where once they had been so happy together the cloud between them would lift.

Jimmy remained silent as they drove up the hill and parked the car. But after they were seated and had ordered he said, "Now tell me about it. How do you happen to be working at a music store under another name?"

"I've run away," she admitted. "No one knows where I am but you."

"Do you mean you have actually left your father?"

She nodded.

"Yes. You see he insisted that I should go to Hollywood. Sammy Martin telephoned that he had made the arrangements for a screen test if I would come down there. But I remembered what you had said, Jimmy, and I wouldn't go."

"And what did your father say?"

"He said I must. That even after what had happened it was an opportunity I couldn't afford to turn down. The fact that Sammy was married didn't seem to matter. Maybe it wasn't as important as I thought. But if I had known it, I never would have gone out with him. I only did it to please Daddy."

WONDER

Jimmy was staring at her with an expression of wonder.

"Honestly, Kathleen, you are priceless. I tell myself no girl in the world today could be so innocent; then when I am with you I believe in you all over again."

"You should have given me a chance to explain," she said reproachfully.

"I was furious," he admitted. "Never in my life have I been so hurt. What made it worse my mother saw the piece in the paper and asked if it was the same girl I had told her about. She didn't say much but I could see what she thought."

"If I had kept our date that night, I would have said things I'd have been sorry for later. But after a few days I began to realize how unfair I'd been. I telephoned your aunt's apartment the next night you were supposed to be there but they told me she was out of the city. Then, I tried to call you at home but no one answered. I decided you had gone to Hollywood. It never entered my head that you might have quarreled with your father and had the nerve enough to get out on your own."

"Aunt Nora was in New York so I had to do something," she said.

ADMIRATION

Jimmy's eyes were shining in admiration.

"You're really grown up, haven't you?"

"Yes," she said, 'I have. And no one, Daddy or anyone else, can make me do anything again."

His hand caught hers beneath the table and held it.

You darling! I've hurt you and I ought to be shot for it. Can you ever forgive me?"

"I love you," Kathleen said simply. "I've never stopped loving you, Jimmy."

"And I love you. No one shall ever separate us again."

What To Do

Conservative clothes of good material, kept neat and clean, are the mark of a fastidious and well-dressed person. Follow your type in clothes, by all means, but don't overdress. Don't try to change your type to another by the garments you put on your back.

If you are the sophisticated type —don't dress in frills with the thought of bringing out a sweet, old-fashioned girl that isn't there. If you're the type, play up the sophisticated angle and be yourself.

Buy the best clothes you can afford—and dress well from the skin out. You'll find that appropriate, well-cut clothes give you confidence, poise and charm.

Death Of Miner Due To Accident

DRUMHELLER, Aug. 12—(CP)—A coroner's jury inquiring into the death of John Urchuk in the Midland Mine on Aug. 7, last night returned a verdict of accidental death when hit by a mine cable but added a rider recommending that in future regular inspections be made of all pulleys on mine tunnels of the kind in which the man was killed.

Plant Permit For Company Is Approved

City council Monday authorized the issuance of a building permit to the M. D. Mutiari Lumber Ltd. provided no action was taken by the Town Planning Commission to re-zone the property purchased from the city by the company for a new plant.

The property is now classified as heavy industrial, but a petition is being presented to the commission by residents in the district seeking re-classification of the property as a one-family residential area.

The issuance of the permit was made contingent also on the passing by city commissioners of the plans and specifications of the buildings the company proposes to erect.

ENDORSATION

Ald. A. Bisset gave notice of motion that "no sale of city property for business, manufacturing or industrial purposes be made without submission of complete representation to and endorsation by the city council."

The lumber company plans to erect a plant at their recently purchased holdings west of 84 street and south of the C.N.R. tracks, on the old penitentiary site. Assurance was given city council's by-laws committee that the buildings erected would be an asset to the district.

Through The Mill

Stealing gas will be moved to top ranking position on the 1941 calendar hereabouts in the near future, the magistrate warned Tuesday. The warning was issued in a "last time lenient" tone of voice as he imposed a fine of $15 and costs on a city youth who pleaded guilty to theft of gasoline from a car in the northeast part of the city last week-end. If the fine is not paid, accused must serve 21 days in jail. "Any further thefts of gasoline will result in jail sentences," the cadi said.

The youth in question was nabbed with a 17-year-old companion by a special constable who outran the pair in a short sprint after following his nose to the scene of the crime. Fumes of the gas betrayed the whereabouts of the youths to the officer. Having run out of gas themselves the lads were in the act of pilfering a quantity from a parked car. The older youth, who is 18 was brought before the city police court while juvenile crime officers are dealing with the other boy.

* * *

A young man who pleaded guilty to stealing a quantity of tools and binder twine near the city will serve three months in jail.

It was again a hard day for drunks. Two were fined $20 and costs or 45 days in jail; two others were assessed $25 and costs or 35 days and one drew the usual $20 and costs or 30 days.

* * *

If you're caught jay walking, an attitude of sincere repentance might be a help. Even a promise to watch where your steps are directed in the future would hardly be amiss. Almost any sign of contrition, whether sincere or feigned, would be away ahead of a wisecrack to the cop stopping you as follows: "Well how do you expect me to get from one side of the street to the other?"

* * *

Yet, that's what a new arrival from Calgary told one of our stalwart officers recently. And he followed this utter lack of diplomacy by giving his wrong name. Later he failed to produce his registration certificate and then he was really in trouble.

In fining him $5 and costs, with the option of serving seven days in jail the magistrate gave some good advice to accused. He advised him to be a whole lot more careful how he talks to a police officer in future. Accused agreed to do this and mumbled something about being in a very nervous condition at the time. He may have been, at that.

* * *

Two men charged with creating a disturbance while drunk pleaded guilty and were each sentenced to serve 30 days in jail. Both had long records of similar offences. An additional preliminary punishment that each had inflicted to the person of the other was a very black eye. Two women appeared on the same charges. One received two months term and the other 30 days in jail.

A woman of 69, charged with creating a disturbance while drunk was placed on suspended sentence for 12 months.

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP)—The anti-Nazi German newspaper "Die Zietung" tells of the arrest in Copenhagen of an old woman news paper vendor for attracting customers with the shout: "35 German bombers over London, 47 back safely."

Military Orders

CORPS OF IMPERIAL FRONTIERSMEN

Affiliated with The Legion of Frontiersmen

Western Canada Command

Squadrons of the Edmonton Area, Corps of Imperial Frontiersmen, will parade at 20.30 hours on Wed., Aug. 13, at city headquarters for continuation of training. Dress, mufti.

There will be a special meeting at 21.30 hours on the same date regarding proposed new headquarters, and special war services activities. —E. S. Reynolds, Major.

Gets His Wings

Graduate of the Eastwood high school, Sgt. Observer Jack Brown, 23, received his wings at a graduation ceremony at Jarvis, Ont., recently. Prior to joining the R.C.A.F., he was an employee of the J. A. Werner Hardware Co. His brother, Gordon, is serving overseas with a Canadian army unit, having gone over last September. They are sons of Mrs. H. T. Parlee and the late Mr. Brown of Edmonton.

Shredded Wheat Employees To Get Living Allowance

Effective at once, all employees of The Canadian Shredded Wheat Company, Limited, earning less than $25 per week will receive an increased wartime living allowance of 10%. To all other employees an increased wartime living allowance of $2.50 per week will be paid.

In making this announcement Mr. W. J. Wilcox, vice-president, stated: "We are very pleased to announce this upward revision of our present wartime living allowance, to meet the increased cost of living as revealed by official government statistics."

Hon. Peter Dawson, speaker of the legislature, is a city visitor on constituency business.

What Council Did

Appointed Ald. D. K. Knott as deputy mayor for the period August 27 to November 15 inclusive.

Gave third reading to the 1941 business tax assessment bylaw which makes business taxes payable by September 1, subject to a discount of 10 per cent on accounts paid on or before that date, with five per cent on accounts paid on or before November 1, and thereafter payable at par until the end of the year.

Referred to the bylaws committee a communication from the Alberta Motor Association requesting the city council to endorse the association's stand that all revenue from gasoline taxes be utilized for road purposes only.

Referred to the bylaws committee for report a communication from H. Milton Martin, chairman, Town Planning Commission, suggesting city council enact a bylaw to provide for the resignation of members of boards appointed by the city who have been absent from a stated number of regular meetings without leave.

Referred the motion of Alderman James H. Ogilvie dealing with regulations for hiring of male employees for the duration of the war for further consideration, and issued instructions that the city commissioners confer with civic executives on certain phases of the motion.

Authorized the electric light department to proceed with the installation of four street lights at 117, 118, 119 and 120 streets and 107 avenue at a cost of approximately $350. Poor lighting existing at these intersections was queried by Ald. Col. E. "Ted" Brown, M.M., at the last meeting of the city council.

Gave third reading to a bylaw to amend the dairy bylaw to provide for the testing of cows from which milk is supplied to city users for brucella abortion infection. This infection causes undulant fever in humans.

Instructed the city commissioners to bring in a report on snow removal, and to submit opinion on the possibility of operating a plant on the river bank at which snow could be melted down as it is drawn from city streets.

Referred the appointment of J. F. Summers as a city lineman to the city commissioners for further report. The fact that Mr. Summers is not an Edmonton resident brought full appointment to the civic service before city council. City Commissioner Gibb informed aldermen that there is a scarcity of linemen in the city at present.

Referred a number of proposed amendments to the city zoning bylaw to the Town Planning Commission for consideration and report.

Referred back to the city commissioners the proposal from the British American Oil Co. for an extension of the company's lease on the Grierson Service station, 9625 Jasper Avenue, for further negotiations on a two-year rather than the proposed 10-year lease basis.

Request from the International Harvester Company of Canada for a ten year lease on the property located at 10357 109 street as referred to the city commissioners for full report on the list price value of this property, and the sale protection clause incorporated in the lease.

Concurred in the recommendation of the license inspector that the license fee to be paid by house-to-house jewellry canvassers be $50, the license fee based on the August 1 rate. Recently the city council passed a bylaw setting a $100 license fee, but representations were made by jewellry canvassers that as the best part of the year had passed prior to the passing of the bylaw that the rate provided from August 1 be the rate for 1941.

Passed a motion by Ald. James H. Ogilvie that acting mayor A. Blair Paterson name a committee to interview the provincial government relative to the institution of daylight saving throughout the province, in accordance with the resolution passed at the recent annual meeting of the Union of Alberta Municipalities.

Two Cyclists Are Injured In Street Mishaps

Two cyclists were injured, one being taken to hospital, as a result of street accidents Monday. George Gibson, 18, of 11346 96 street, suffered a broken collar-bone and other injuries of a minor nature when he collided with a car operated by William J. Bleiler, 9738 111 street, between 108A avenue and 109 avenue on 96 street at 7:48 p.m. Monday.

Gibson was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital by Mr. Bleiler, who told police he was driving north on 96 street when a boy on a bike ran into the right fender and door of his car. The lad's head struck the roof of the car a violent blow, the driver said.

Alice Mitchell, 17, of 10528 96 street, suffered a bruised left shoulder and a cut to the left hand when she was knocked down to the pavement from her bike after colliding with a truck at 99 street and 103 avenue at 1:35 p.m. John Ballas, 10617 98 street, was charged with dangerous driving by police following an investigation of the accident.

RIDING NORTH

According to the police report the girl was riding north on 99 street and was just crossing 103 avenue intersection when struck by the truck, which passed over the left front wheel of the bike.

Ballas stated he thought the girl was turning west and swerved to avoid the cyclist.

Community Chest Canvass Planned

During the last week of September, Edmonton community chest campaigners will begin a house-to-house fund canvass of city homes, Harvey Harrison, campaign chairman, announces.

Mrk. H. Kinnear, who was residential zone division director for the war services drive held in Edmonton last spring, will supervise women volunteers conducting the canvass, and will be assisted by Mrs Cora T. Casselman, M.P. for East Edmonton. John House is chairman of the house-to-house committee.

Purpose of the community chest drive is the unification of appeals of Edmonton social service agencies

Tourists Advised To Miss Edmonton Travellers State

That they were being discouraged from taking the "circle tour" by way of Edmonton, after travelling over the Jasper-Banff highway, was the complaint of tourists in Edmonton during the week-end.

Reports indicated tourists had been advised at Banff not to travel farther north than the Columbia icefields, while others were told not to go beyond Jasper, and to return by the same road, instead of by way of Edmonton.

Secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association, J. A. McNeil said he had heard reports tourists have been advised to limit their travelling to a visit to the icefields, but added "tourists who have come to our offices state the condition of the Jasper-Edmonton road and are surprised at reports advising people not to travel this route".

Club Told About Paratroops' Use

Most interesting development in military tactics revealed in the present fighting is the paratroops, Capt. J. Dixon Craig, M.C., associate editor, Edmonton Journal, told members of the Kiwanis Club at the regular weekly luncheon meeting held Monday at the Macdonald hotel.

He said this type of fighting had been invented by the Russians, but had been adopted and brought to a pitch of perfection through gruelling training by the Germans.

Capt. Craig stated also that during the past 10 or 15 years the Russians had developed more modern war weapons than any other nation, and included in the list the paratroops, gliders, amphibian tank, and the incendiary bomb.

He outlined in detail the training duties of paratroops, and compared the fighting methods in this and the last war.

MacInnis Speaks At C.C.F. School

Speaking on "The C.C.F. During and After the War," Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. member for Vancouver East, addressed students attending the C.C.F. summer school at Elk Island Park on Monday. The school opened last Friday and will continue in session until August 18.

Other speakers on Monday were H. D. Ainlay, C. A. Ronning and Dr. H. E. Smith. On Tuesday morning, Mr. Ainlay spoke on "Government Intervention and Ownership," and William Irvine on "Social Democratic Leadership." Mr. MacInnis was scheduled to continue his address on the party during and after the war at the Tuesday afternoon session, and Dr. Geneva Misener will speak in the evening.

Speakers on Wednesday will include Mr. Ainlay, Mr. Ronning, Dr L. B. Pett and E. E. Roper.

Funeral services for Alexander McKercher, 80, of 9924 106 street, resident of Edmonton for the past 20 years, whose death occurred on Sunday, will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m., at Hainstock's funeral chapel. Rev. A. B. Argue officiating. Interment will take place in the Edmonton cemetery.
